Man Wanted in Many Cities for Auto Thefts Flees From Boston Jail

Scaled Wall With Aid of Derrick Rope and Climbed Over Roofs Nearby

Said to Have Home in This City, But Lowell Police Unable to Verify Report

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Thomas Moreland, described by the police as wanted in many cities for automobile thefts, escaped from Charles Street jail today by scaling the wall with the aid of a derrick rope and climbing over the roofs of neighboring buildings while a construction gang gazed as if at a movie thriller. Moreland, who is also known as Donald Moran, was not in jail uniform, and by the time the onlookers realized that he was an escaping prisoner and gave the alarm, he had disappeared. He was arrested last Saturday and was awaiting trial on the charge of larceny of an automobile. Moreland's home is said to be in Lowell.

Up to an early hour this afternoon attempts to verify the statement that Moreland or Moran has a home in Lowell were of no result. The names used in connection with the above meant nothing to the local police who, on investigation, found no relating records on their books. The police add that the man may never have been arrested in Lowell and offer the possibility that the address is wrongly given.

HELD UNDER $1000 FOR FELONIOUS ASSAULT

The defendant was arrested on a warrant last night by Lieut. Pettie and Inspectors Moore and Conney. The assault was committed Monday

"The Ponzi tragedy is just another chapter in the history of the aged effort to get something for nothing. Greed and ignorance make possible the launching of such plans for robbing the public. But it would certainly seem that the banking laws of a State which did not make the operation of such a scheme impossible are in need of drastic revision. We cannot afford to depend upon a future dearth of knaves and fools to prevent the recurrence of the Ponzi exploit."—N. Y. Outlook.

LOWELL DEMOCRATS TO MEET GOVERNOR COX

Humphrey O'Sullivan, Postmaster John F. Meehan and Cornelius F. Cronin left Lowell today for New York city, where they are to meet Governor James Cox of Ohio, democratic nominee for president, at a luncheon tomorrow noon.

Mr. O'Sullivan was one of the delegates to the national convention at San Francisco where Mr. Cox was nominated and Messrs. Meehan and Cronin were also present at the convention. Following the convention, arrangements were made to have the Lowell men meet Governor Cox personally and inasmuch as he is to be in New York tomorrow, the local democrats are to take advantage of the opportunity to discuss with him the presidential campaign as it affects this vicinity. The Lowell men will return early next week.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Suffragists assembled in New York today to celebrate the formal ratification of the 19th amendment.

A large delegation planned to go to the Pennsylvania station to greet Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association upon her arrival late in the afternoon from Nashville, Tenn., the battleground of final victory for the cause.

Accompanying Mrs. Catt were the suffrage leaders of both the great parties. Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio, vice-chairman of the republican national executive committee and Mrs. Charles Williams of Tennessee, vice-chairman of the democratic national executive committee.

Mrs. John Blair was chosen to present a high bouquet of blue and yellow flowers, the "votes for women" colors, to Mrs. Catt. Appended to the bouquet was a ribbon bearing the inscription: "From 27,000,000 enfranchised women of the United States."

NO INCREASE IN MILK PRICE SEPT. 1

There will be no increase in the price of milk the first of September, as had been generally anticipated both by dealers and consumers, it was announced this morning.

A meeting of dealers and farmers was held in the American house last evening at which the matter of increased charges was thoroughly thrashed out. It was only after extended debate that an agreement was reached that prices should remain as they are at present.

How long present prices will remain unchanged is said to be problematical. One element in holding back an advance at the present time has been a fall in the price of grain.

Whether this drop will be maintained is uncertain. It seems to be the general opinion among farmers, though, that the rise in freight rates will soon be reflected in the grain quotations.

In keeping prices at their present level Lowell dealers will probably be departing from their usual custom in the past of adopting the standard of prices in Boston as a basis for their charges.

Representatives of the New England Milk Producers' association have been in conference with the big Boston milk contractors and have been demanding an addition of 1/4 cent a quart to the prices paid to them. It is claimed that the added cost of freight which must be paid by the producers will just about equal the advance that is asked for.

The Boston contractors are understood to be considering advancing their charges 1/4 or one cent a quart. They assert that the advance is necessary to cover the increased charges for higher wages for employees. At the present time the price of milk is one cent less per quart in Lowell than it is in Boston.

LOWELL'S ICE SUPPLY ADEQUATE

There is an adequate supply of ice in sight to carry Lowell people through the rest of the warm weather season, it was stated by Miss Martina A. Gage, head of the Gage Ice company this morning. No price increase is in prospect. The company is now drawing its supply largely from its own houses at South Chelmsford. To make up to the loss of ice in a fire that destroyed the storage sheds of the Gage company at Forge village a quantity of ice is being purchased at North Chelmsford and being shipped into the city over the railroad.

Act to Recover $50,000 Alleged to Have Been Paid to Daniels to Settle Suit

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—The receivers in bankruptcy of Charles Ponzi, who skyrocketed into fame as an alleged maker of millions in international postal reply coupons, took legal steps today to add to his assets the sum of $50,000 which he is alleged to have paid Joseph Daniels in settlement of a suit by Daniels to establish a partnership interest in Ponzi's Securities Exchange Co. Daniels in his suit alleged that he loaned Ponzi the few hundred dollars which started the get-rich-quick operator in business.

The receivers' action is in the form of a bill in equity to have Daniels ordered by the court to turn over to the receivers the money he had from Ponzi. They allege that at the time the settlement was made Ponzi was insolvent, and that the settlement was fraudulent and intended to defraud other creditors.

WOULD GIVE FREE LEGAL ADVICE TO THE POOR

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Establishment of legal aid bureaus throughout the United States to give free legal advice to the poor, was recommended as a means of checking the spread of radicalism by speakers today at the convention of the American Bar association in session here. The association was asked to assist in every way to encourage the establishment of such bureaus, especially in the larger cities. Among the speakers were Charles Evans Hughes, Reginald H. Smith of Boston, and Ernest L. Tustin, director of public works, Philadelphia.

"There is no more serious menace," Mr. Hughes declared, "than the discontent which is fostered by a belief that one cannot enforce his legal rights because of poverty. To spread that notion, is to open a broad road to Bolshevism."

"The poor man must have legal advice and except in the simplest matters, he needs skilled assistance to present the merits of his case. Simply in court procedure and the multiplication of tribunals with special functions, are not enough."

"Without opportunity on the part of the poor to secure such aid, it is idle to talk of equality before the law. You may provide the machinery of courts, but to have justice according to law, save in a very limited class of cases where a judge may act as advisor, you must have the aid of lawyers. The legal aid society is the poor man's lawyer and gives him the essential assistance he cannot obtain elsewhere."

The Legal Aid society of New York, Mr. Hughes said, gave advice to 34,000 applicants last year. Had it not been for the bureau, he said, the majority of the persons probably would have gone without proper legal counsel. Mr. Hughes urged that free legal advice be given the poor in criminal as well as civil cases.

Mr. Smith said that simplified court procedure would obviate the necessity for legal counsel in certain cases, but where the services of a lawyer were demanded, they should be available, irrespective of the financial standing of the client.

"If men because of poverty cannot obtain counsel, the machinery of justice becomes unworkable and that in turn means that rights are lost and wrongs go unredressed," he asserted.

"When persons are thus debarrd from their day in court, they are as effectively stripped of their only protection as if they had been outlawed."

"No democracy can tolerate such a condition in its most essential institution, nor can it safely incur the dangerous sense of injustice, bitterness and unrest which it inevitably engenders."

"Immigration in the future will come largely from eastern European countries and the opportunity for imposition and unlawful practices will be much increased."

Among the reports presented today was one recommending that the period between the election and inauguration of the president of the United States

be shortened, so that the period for long and short fishing will be the administration in hands which have been discredited by a popular vote of want of confidence and that such a situation greatly weakens the prestige of the government, both at home and abroad.

A meeting of the executive board of the local fish and game association was called by President Harris for Monday next at 7:30 p. m. the meeting to take place in his office at 33 Central street.

The purpose of the meeting is to make arrangements for the annual outing that will be held in September. At the last regular meeting held in June it was voted the association hold the annual dinner and outing in September and the executive board was instructed to act as a committee to arrange all matters.

It is expected that the committee will select a date and also a place for the outing at this meeting so that a report in detail can be made at the next regular meeting of the association.

WALL PAPER DEPT.

Wall Paper Talks

Outcast, as a name, has been very much abused when applied to Wall Paper. When outsiders first came on the market they were all good. Today there are as few as six different grades, some good and some not so good. There are but two factories in this country with any large output of Outcast Paper. All these factories are made under various specifications the different grades for the various Wall Paper factories who after receiving them reel them into three roll bolts and put their own wrappers on them.

Known to their Wall Paper trade and admitted by them to be absolutely the best on the market is an outcast made under a special formula by Becker, Smith and Page.

Knowing that our trade demanded the best, we bought M. S. & P.'s outcasts. They are the only outcast we can buy today, the surface of which will not rub off when brushed. The colorings are cleaner and run more even than others and like all good outcasts, they are fast color.

Put up in five yard rolls—three rolls in one piece. Thirty inches wide. Fourteen colors to select from, with a large assortment of cut-out borders and blinders for each color.

While outcasts have been on the market for years they are still very popular. And justly so, for they are the most economical wall covering at any price.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Paper.

KANSAS STATE OF AB-
SENTEE TENANTS

BY MADELL ABBOTT
K.K.A. Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 27.—Kansas is becoming a state of absentee landlords and tenant farmers.

"This," says Gov. Henry J. Allen, "is the greatest menace to the fundamental growth of the state."

Gov. Allen has figures to show that for years farm tenancy has been on the increase in Kansas.

Instead of being tilled by men who own them and whose interests are in conserving their fertility and building up the roads, schools and homes, more and more farms are being rented.

The leases run, in most cases, for one year, and the tenant's interest is in getting all he can out of the land in that time.

Figures for 1920 show, for example, that 57.4 per cent of the farms in Scott county are operated by tenants—an increase of 35.1 per cent in 10 years.

Gov. Allen is urging adoption of the farm homes amendment, which came before the voters in November.

This amendment will permit the legislature to establish a fund to advance money to worthy farmers at small interest and on long time, with which to buy farms to live on and operate, and to irrigate and reclaim tracts of dry land and divide them into farms to be sold on the instalment plan to men who will agree to live on them and work them.

THOUSANDS FORCED TO SLEEP ON SANDS

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Never has there been such an exodus from the larger cities of England to seaside and villages for the vacation period as this year. Railroads and coastwise steamship companies have been unable to cope with the traffic and lack of housing facilities at the more popular resorts have forced thousands to sleep on the sands until they can arrange to get back home.

August, partly because of custom and partly because this month is the warmest of the cool English summer, is the great holiday time of the country.

This year the government decided to raise railroad fares to 75 per cent above the pre-war level in order to recoup some of the losses incurred in operation by the government. This increase was made in face of a solid press campaign against it and was announced to become effective August 6.

Consequently thousands who had planned their vacations later changed their plans to avoid the fare increase. The decision to go early came too late to arrange for accommodations at resorts and thousands left home with the idea of taking a chance on getting rooms. The result was congestion everywhere.

At some of the London stations people waited 7 hours to catch trains. Trains to Brighton were heavily loaded long before the hour of departure. At Liverpool they took positions Friday night to obtain places on the boats Saturday to the popular Isle of Man. The boats were loaded as rapidly as they could be docked but thousands were left behind when Saturday night came. People on the wharves were admonished by officials not to go unless they had accommodations on the island. Few heeded it, however, and that night the beaches were almost covered with persons unable to get shelter or unable to pay the high prices resulting from the influx.

Thousands went to resorts by motor char-a-bancs which have become very popular this summer because of high rail fares and inconvenience of crowded trains.

It is a custom in England for many people of the less influential classes to marry on "bank holiday," the first Monday in August. They take their fortnight vacation for the honeymoon. At one village two hours before a train left for a popular resort 30 couples were lined up in front of the village church waiting for the parson to do his duty.

RIOTING CONTINUES IN BELFAST, IRELAND

BELFAST, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press.)—Serious rioting broke out in Belfast last night, during which there was considerable shooting and some incendiarism.

A number of wounded persons were taken to hospitals.

Last night's rioting began in the Falls district of West Belfast, the scene of the deadliest fighting in the July disturbances.

It started with revolver firing near the Kashmir road of evil memories. Albert street, in the Falls area, situated in the populous mill locality mainly inhabited by nationalists, became the new storm center.

During the trouble an armored car appeared and fired on the rioters, a number of whom were taken to hospitals suffering from machine-gun wounds.

Crowds of shipyard workers appeared and fired on the rioters, a number of whom were taken to hospitals suffering from machine-gun wounds.

Crowds of shipyard workers appeared from the side streets, waving union jacks.

The military was heartily cheered, as was a section of the fire brigade which was summoned for an incendiary fire at the foot of Seaford street. A few minutes after the fire started the whole block of buildings was a seething mass of flames. There was much looting.

"Belfast could be no worse." This was the description given by high police officials of the conditions in Belfast last night.

At 6 o'clock the riots had extended to Grosvenor road, a long thoroughfare running from the heart of the city to the Falls, where two spirit stores were looted. The military was obliged to disperse the rioters.

Rioting of the fiercest nature began at the city end of Ballymacarrett about 6 o'clock last evening in Vulcan street and immediate vicinity. Many were injured among the rival factions. Later the trouble extended to Newton Yard, 13 miles from Belfast, involving the shipyard workers. Fierce rioting occurred this afternoon and the military fired on a crowd.

This afternoon's rioting occurred in Clonallon street, East Belfast.

When the military fired volleys at the crowd a number of persons were seen to fall. The fire brigade was caught between hostile stone-throwing mobs and had to return to its station.

Rioting was renewed this noon in Wolf and Foundry streets. The police quelled the outbreak.

During Wednesday night's rioting the casualties were reported as one

The fire brigade reported 28 incendiary fires in the 12 hours ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Thirteen persons were arrested for rioting and kindred offenses.

The rioting originated in a report that nationalists yesterday stoned children leaving the Comber street national school at Ballymacarrett, a Belfast suburb.

Robert Caldwell, principal of the school, denied that the pupils were attacked, but there was no doubt that the report was believed by both sides and that it acted like matches to tinder.

The authorities banned a meeting which the carpenters' executive had called at the suggestion of headquarters in England to consider the question of such Sinn Fein workers. Believing such a meeting would have been marked by intense feeling, the ban was announced, the authorities resolving not to allow anything which would further embitter the situation.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE OF MAINE DEAD

ELLSWORTH, Me., Aug. 27.—Lucius Elton Emery, former chief justice of the Maine supreme court and long in public life, died last night at his summer home at Hancock Point. He was in his 81st year.

He was born in Carmel near Bangor, July 27, 1840, attended Hampden Academy and graduated from Bowdoin college in 1861. He studied law with the late A. W. Paine of Bangor and was admitted to the bar in 1863, opening an office in this city, where he made his home the rest of his life.

He was elected county attorney in 1866. Before the expiration of his term in 1868 he was invited by Eugene Hale, then entering on his congressional career, to become his partner. This partnership lasted 15 years, being dissolved only by Judge Emery being appointed to the bench.

Judge Emery was a member of the Maine senate in 1874-5, and in 1876 was elected attorney general, serving three years. He was again elected to the senate in 1889. In 1893 he was appointed to the supreme bench by Gov. Frederick Roble, and served 25 years, resigning in 1911. He was appointed chief justice in 1906 by Gov. Cobb, after the death of Chief Justice Wiswell.

He was for three years lecturer on medical jurisprudence at Bowdoin Medical school, had served as overseer and was a member of the board of trustees of Bowdoin college at the time of his death. He was lecturer on Roman law at the University of Maine.

He is survived by a son and daughter, Prof. Harry C. Emery, formerly of Yale, now a banker at Pekin, China; and Mrs. Annie Crosby Allison, wife of Prof. F. L. Allison of Brown University. A sister lives in Alabama.

Funeral services will be held here, the date to be announced later.

WOULD CHANGE DATE
OF INAUGURATION

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—The long period between the election of the president of the United States and his inauguration is "a serious evil fraught with much danger," according to the report of the special committee on the change in date of the presidential inauguration, presented today to the convention of the American Bar association, in session here.

The report recommends that the period be shortened, and that the short term of the old congress be eliminated. It, however, does not suggest any other date for the inauguration, explaining that March 4 has been recognized by constitutional amendment as the date of inaugural. It adds: "The committee, however, is of the opinion that it is the duty of this association representing the great body of lawyers of the country to call the attention of congress to those provisions of the law and of the constitution which are fraught with serious danger and which are liable to bring humiliation and disaster to the republic."

It states that the period between election and inauguration is "liable to leave the administration in hands which have been discredited by a popular vote of want of confidence and that such a situation greatly weakens the prestige of the government both at home and abroad."

"The three months' session of the old congress occurring after a new congress has been elected is also most unsatisfactory and serves as an opportunity for partisan activity of the worst kind."

MR. FROG COMES BACK

Nancy and Nick sat quietly while Mr. Tingaling, the fairymen, landlord, looked around Philip Frog's house, as he said, for repairs, but really hunting for Phil himself. He'd a pretty good idea that Philip's vacation hadn't taken him either so far as Atlantic City or Niagara Falls, or even so far as Ripple Creek.

And he wasn't far wrong, for down under the mud Philip was waiting pehear, "I'll have to see if the sugar barrel and flour bin are in good repair." And he poked into each one of them determined to find Mrs. Frog's missing husband.

But for all, Tingaling was so smart, Mr. Frog would have fooled him completely, had it not been for an accident.

The fairymen tripped and upset the pepper. And Mrs. Frog had to sneeze. "Kerchoo, kerchoo, kerchoo!" she tiently for the "Ker-chunk" (three times) that was to be his wife's signal that the fairymen had gone. Tingaling looked first in the cupboard, examining it carefully. "Empty!" he exclaimed coming out quite crestfallen.

"What's that?" asked Mrs. Frog suspiciously.

"I mean—it's all right," explained Tingaling quickly, pretending not to want loudly, and it sounded exactly like three "Ker-chunks" under the mud where Phil was.

Up he popped quick as a wink, and when he saw what had happened it was too late to go back.

"My," he said, trying to hide his chagrin, "I see I've just returned in time. Here's my rent, Mr. Tingaling!" And he meekly handed it over.

SAYS EUROPE HOPES FOR REPUBLICAN VICTORY

MARION, O., Aug. 27.—Present-day opinions of European statesmen on the part this nation should take in the peace settlement were laid before Senator Harding yesterday for his consideration in shaping details of a republican peace program.

The report was brought to the nominee by Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, who has just returned from a series of conferences with the public men of various nations of western Europe. In a public statement, Mr. Herrick said the western European statesmen now are hoping for a return of the republican party to power and would welcome the peace settlement proposed by Senator Harding.

The former ambassador also intimated that the world court plan now being formulated abroad by Elihu Root and the representatives of European nations would have a large place in the party's program as finally placed before the country.

The League of Nations issue also was discussed by the candidate yesterday with former Senator Sutherland of Utah, a distinguished lawyer and a close student of international affairs. To both his callers Senator Harding is said to have outlined the speech he is to make here Saturday detailing his foreign policy and elaborating on his proposal for a new association of nations to preserve world concord.

That the nation must not hold aloof but must "play its proper part" in the world's affairs, was emphasized by the nominee in a short talk late in the day to a group of Marion county school teachers who called on him. He declared himself as anxious as any one to see peace preserved but he added that the republic could accomplish its real mission in the world only if it remains unfettered.

In his speech Senator Harding also promised to use his influence for higher school standards and for better pay for teachers.

Mr. Herrick spent most of the day at the Harding home and related in detail to the candidate the sentiment he had found abroad as a result of the senate's failure to ratify the peace treaty. He declared the position of the republican party now was fully understood in Europe while President Wilson had been discredited because the nation had not accepted his peace plan.

H. C. L. STARTS ON LONG AWAITED FALL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (By the Associated Press.)—Marked indications that living costs apparently have started on their long awaited fall was said by the federal reserve board yesterday to be contained in its latest reports. An "important downward tendency in prices of all commodities excepting food is evidenced in all parts of the country," the board stated, adding that a sharp reduction in the price of raw products even forecast lower food prices.

The board in commenting on the price changes said there had been a "pronounced checking" of speculation as well as a denials although slight increase in general efficiency and an "equally positive yet limited curtailment of extravagant expenditure and unnecessary borrowing. There has also been a 'sustained tendency' toward the paying off of loans secured by government and other bonds and securities.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Elaine Hammerstein's new starring vehicle, "The Point of View," is one of the feature attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre for the week-end. Family pride is the subject of this photoplay, which is one of the strongest and best in which Miss Hammerstein has yet appeared. It depicts how a girl, the only practical member of an impoverished aristocratic family, carries a wealthy man whom she does not love in order to further the ambitions of her violinist brother and to repair the family fortunes. The other leading attraction of the current program is "Man's Plaything," featuring Montagu Love. The International News, a comedy and a Burton Holmes travel picture round out the bill.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

If you want to see a wonderful representation of life on patrol work in No Man's Land, set to music, then look over Lieut. Noble Sissel and Ensign Blake, who are among the several good features at the B. F. Keith theatre this week. One is a pianist; the other a singer and the twin offers a splendid diversion. Rona Arnold and Harry Lambert do a bit of everything in "Pills," while Ray W. Snow and Natalie Veltner offer a potpourri of fun. Bobby Bentley and Co. in "Lies and Lies," are furious laughmakers, and other good things of the week's line up are: Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, the somewhat different singers; Four Lamys, astounding gymnasts and trampolin performers; and Daly and Herlow in a cycle of dances.

front rank of screen comedians, so much so that other comedians are trying to take him away from Vitagraph, according to double-page announcements in the trade papers. He can be seen in his latest comedy, "School Days," at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

Also can be seen the great northern picture, "The Law of the Yukon," from the poem by Robert W. Service, which tells thrillingly and vividly that the the strong shall survive and the weak perish. Director Charles Sillar has evolved a beautiful piece of work. On the bill, too, is an episode of "The Hawk's Trail," with King Baggot, a Judge Brown story, Will Rogers, and shorter features.

THE STRAND

"Dangerous Days," a story by Mary Roberts Rinehart that deals with the dangers both national and personal, industrial and domestic, which is being shown at The Strand, should have an appeal to all. It unbares life as it really is, and touches all phases imaginable. See it and be benefited as well as entertained. "Frivolous Wives" is another strong, fearless treatment of an important question that vitally involves the human family. Larry Semon's big comedy, "School Days," gives proper balance to a pleasingly varied bill. See them all.

INSPECT MIDDLESEX COUNTY DAIRIES

WALTHAM, Aug. 27.—Milk producers throughout Middlesex county were favored with fair weather today for their automobile excursion to ten picked dairy farms for the purpose of studying successful methods of handling livestock. The common at Concord was the meeting place, the party leaving there promptly at 10 a. m. The circuit includes the towns of Concord, Bedford, Billerica, Chelmsford and Westford.

The trip is under the direction of the Middlesex county bureau of agriculture, Waltham, which announces the itinerary. The first step will be at the Alfred Curtis farm, Concord, where the construction of the stable, ventilation, light, and water buckets will be especially noted. Mr. Curtis farm superintendent will explain his method of raising cash crops in connection with dairy farming.

Going through Carlisle to Bedford, Hyfield farm, owned by Roger W. Brown, will be visited. He has a herd of pure bred Holsteins and will explain the cost of raising young stock. The next farm, that of Chester C. Barnes, has a hard showing the possibility of obtaining high producing cows from the Brighton market.

The party will stop at Billerica common for a basket luncheon at noon. Short dairy talks will be made by O. M. Canburn of the state department of agriculture; S. R. Parker Massachusetts Agricultural college, and L. W. Dean, superintendent of Cedarhurst farm, Waltham.

The first stop after lunch will be at the B. O. Sanford farm, Billerica. The feature here will be a 14-year-old cow that has averaged 4 cans of milk per day for four months after freshening. Next Coburn S. Smith will show his fine commercial herd together with his original method of cooling milk. Mr. Smith's barn is one of the oldest in the county, built so a team can be driven through it. When it was being constructed people came from all parts of New England to see it.

Walter B. Emerson's farm in Chelmsford will be visited as an excellent example of a one family farm. Coldspring farm, Westford, will give the party an opportunity to inspect the potato seed source test that is being conducted in co-operation with the bureau. At George F. White's farm, Westford, a show herd of Ayrshires will be seen. Mr. White has some splendid animals, and just this week he shipped three cows to the Hawaiian Islands on a special order. The final stop will be at the farm of E. H. Flagg, near the Littleton town line. Mr. Flagg has been successful in breeding a good commercial herd of Ayrshires by the use of a good sire. He also grows alfalfa and corn successfully.

The H.C.L. has hit even the borders of Uganda and the Congo, where the cost of a wife has risen from four spearheads in pre-war days to eight spearheads.

Busy Telephone Lines

Out of 80,000 daily telephone calls in Lowell, over 8,000 result in a report of busy lines.

This is largely due to the fact that when subscribers receive a "line busy" report, they frequently repeat their call at intervals of a few seconds.

Making repeated calls for a busy line means much unnecessary work at the switchboard and a wasteful use of lines and equipment.

It will assist in maintaining good telephone service if subscribers wait a few minutes after receiving the "line busy" report before making a second call.

WAS BARNUM RIGHT

EVERY ONE BORN—THERE ARE TWO WAITING TO GET HIM—Apologies to J. B.

I say no; but in justice to the old, famous show man, I believe Barnum was joking when he made that assertion, even though some of his giants were on stilts and a few of the fat ladies were padded, yet he always gave us more for our cents than we could get in any other circus.

While you and I may stand for a little innocent humbugging when it comes to entertainment, let us feel that the men who sell us things to eat, to wear and to use, ought to be square. During the past six months scores of men who had been in the habit of wearing ready-to-wear clothes came to me for tailor-made garments simply because some unscrupulous retailer had proven tricky. One of their most common tricks was to put in a window of beautifully pressed suits, marked low price. You went in to buy and there wasn't a half price suit in the house that would fit you. Of course not. The salesman would have lost his job if he sold too many. Just enough is sold to keep clear of the government rulings. Our reputable clothiers (and most of them are reputable) are injured by such methods. They should get the facts and report them to the proper authorities for action.

Do your part in making this town clean by walking out of any store that does not back up its advertising in spirit as well as in deed. Understand please that the big majority of our merchants and tailors are square; do not allow one unpleasant experience to sour you on the world.

Bitter-Phosphate a Godsend Men and women, nervous and frail, easily upset and often fatigued, need plenty of phosphate, and the sooner they heed this advice the better their health will be.

In every one of the millions of cells that make up your body, phosphorus is a most important part. Your nervous system, your brain, your blood and even your bones must have a sufficient supply of phosphorus or you will be nervous, irritable, and generally run-down condition, as well as lack of normal mental power is sure to result.

Big men of affairs—mighty men who control industries because of sheer will power and nervous force. Know this, if they don't, are clever enough to have a physician who does.

Physicians more and more are realizing that Bitter-Phosphate, as dispensed by A. W. Dows and all leading drug stores, is a necessity to over forty per cent of men and women, because present day foods do not contain enough phosphate to give the body and especially the nervous system the supply it needs.

Speaking on this very subject, Dr. Frederick S. Kelle, Editor-in-Chief of Physicians' "Who's Who," and a nationally known author of medical text books, in a most emphatic statement, said:

"If I had my way, Bitter-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital. When the nerve tissue begins to lose its vitality, nervousness begins to lose her youth and vivaciousness. Her lively, pleasant disposition fades away—she becomes irritable, uncompanionable, gloomy and despondent. It would indeed be a Godsend if more men and women were aware of the efficacy of Bitter-Phosphate."

Hot weather is dreaded by men and women who are weak, thin, nervous, timid and lacking in vigorous development because it saps their vitality almost to the breaking point. To all such people, Bitter-Phosphate is recommended because it is the one organic phosphate which, when absorbed by the system, will supply the element necessary for a vigorous, healthy body free from any suggestion of weakness or disordered nerves.

Your druggist has Bitter-Phosphate in the original package with complete instructions for best results.—Adv.

PONZI ASSETS OF $14,370 RECOVERED

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—New Ponzi assets amounting to $14,370 were uncovered yesterday by receivers Sears, Thurston and Perkins. Of this amount $11,370 was located at the Hanover Trust company, the money being in gold certificates with the exception of $457.50 which was in gold. William R. Sears, chairman of the receivers, stated late yesterday afternoon that the other $3000 was in the form of a note, which was located at one of the trust companies visited.

In charge of United States Deputy Marshals Joseph Quinn and Christopher Ghiloni, Ponzi was brought to the Hanover Trust company at 11 o'clock yesterday morning to meet the receivers, but they did not arrive until half an hour later. The presence of Ponzi in the trust company office served to draw a big crowd around the entrance to the bank and in a short time traffic through Newspaper row proceeded at a snail's pace. It was necessary to send a detail of police to make the sidewalks passable.

Receivers Visit Other Banks

After an hour spent in the examination, the receivers went to the Hanover street branch of the company and after luncheon went to the Lexington Trust Co. Later they returned to Boston and visited the Tremont Trust company.

The new office of the receivers at 50 Equitable building will be opened this morning. Yesterday 168 noteholders presented their claims at the attorney general's office at the state house. The total amount represented was $51,907. This makes the attorney general's estimate of Ponzi's liabilities $5,030,247. The number of individuals who have filed their claims to date is 12,226.

Following a conference yesterday with Charles H. Jones, counsel for the Hanover Trust company, Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen said: "The situation has not changed at all. I do not know when the Hanover Trust company is going to be reopened."

Coakley Ready to Testify

Daniel H. Coakley yesterday declared that he would welcome the chance to testify before the Ponzi receivers, and it is understood that Daniel V. McIsaac has also said that he would greet the opportunity to go on the stand.

Mr. Coakley announced that any further fees which may be assigned to him for his appearance in connection with the bankruptcy case will also be turned over for the benefit of the creditors, as will any fees which may come to Mr. McIsaac. Mr. Coakley again challenged the receivers and their attorneys to turn back any compensation which may come to them.

"I want to make it clear," said Mr. Coakley, "that my check tendered for $25,000 and Mr. McIsaac's check for $25,000, and accepted by the receivers, had no strings to it. It's in the pot, where any fees that the bankruptcy court may award us will go, and now let the receivers turn in their fees and there will be a better chance for the needy ones getting back more of their money."

"Let's see who is working for the widows and orphans, and let's see who is working for a court fee. I wish to announce now that any fee that the bankruptcy court may assign me for my work, or that it may assign Mr. McIsaac for his work, will be promptly turned back into the assets."

LIQUOR QUESTION WILL APPEAR ON BALLOT

Special to The Sun.

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Aug. 27.—Although the supreme court has upheld the Volstead act and even the most hardened drinkers have resigned themselves to their fate and have settled down to a long drought, the question of permitting the sale and manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer and wine will be voted on this fall in Massachusetts.

The question will appear on the ballot election day and the voters will approve or disapprove it, but state officials say they are at a loss to see what the net result will be, whatever the choice of the voters. The question will be brought before the voters by means of the initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution.

Last year the voters in a majority of the senatorial representative districts signified overwhelming preference for beverages containing not more than four per cent alcohol. The measure favored by the voters was placed on the ballot by means of the public opinion act of 1913. At the same time the proponents of liquor with a small alcoholic content secured 20,000 signatures to a 2.75 measure and submitted the latter to the legislature under the initiative plan. The bill was passed by the legislature but vetoed by Governor Coolidge before it could become law.

Taking advantage of a provision of the initiative and referendum amendment, the proponents of the defeated bill have filed with the secretary of state 5000 additional signatures, which, under the law, entitles the measure to a place on the ballot. If a measure is provided in this manner it goes on the statute books, according to the provisions of the initiative. Should this measure become a law and saloon keepers attempt to sell 2.75 per cent beverages, no mean proportion would arise.

It is significant that the adherents of the proposed law appear not to have faith enough in their plan to take advantage of a provision in the initiative which permits of sending printed arguments to the voters.

Attorney General J. Weston Allen was recently asked by Secretary of State Albert P. Langtry for an opinion as to the phraseology to be used in placing the question before the voters. The form recommended by the attorney general and the one which will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"Shall an act entitled, 'An act to regulate the manufacture and sale of beer, cider and light wines; and in which it is provided that all beverages containing not less than one-half of one per cent and not more than two and three-quarters per cent of alcohol by weight at 60 degree Fahrenheit shall be deemed not to be intoxicating liquor, which act passed the house of representatives by a vote of 121 in favor and 87 against and passed the senate by a vote of 26 in favor and six against, and was thereafter vetoed by His Excellency, the Governor, and failed of passage in the senate over the said veto by a vote of 14 in favor and 22 against, be approved?' HOYE.

7 PULLED FROM WATER

Dory Capsized When Sailor Threw Water Overboard—One Boy Drowned

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Frank Carey, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carey of 41 Atlantic avenue, Marblehead, was drowned when the small dory in which they were crowded capsized near Martin's wharf, Marblehead, yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred when a man aboard a coal barge moored alongside the wharf threw a bucket of water into the rowboat, frightening the youngsters who were about to climb aboard, to such a degree that in their effort to row away rapidly the boat overturned.

Three Plunge to Rescue

Three men standing on the wharf, Frank Munroe, Arthur Griffith and Gregory Coffin, plunged into the water and brought ashore seven of the eight boys, only two of whom could swim. They were partially aided in their rescue work by two of the youngsters, Frank Tobin and Frank Goldsmith who, although themselves barely able to keep afloat, nevertheless attempted to save their comrades by holding their heads above water until reached by the rescuers. The other boys rescued were John Rafferty, John Barney, Grover Welch and James and George Desmond.

It was not until the seven boys were

Cat Walks 69 Miles to Find Master

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Aug. 27.—Red, Bloomfield's champion tomcat pedestrian, today curled up on a bag of bran and purred contentedly while Lawrence Blamey, his owner, proprietor of a feed store, patiently applied soothing salve to his paws. Red's claws were worn down to the quick by a hike of 67 miles from a farm which Mr. Blamey sold a year ago. Thinking his pet cat would prefer field mice to those of the feed store variety, Mr. Blamey left Red on the farm, but yesterday the exhausted feline finally succeeded in finding the new home of his master.

The boys claim that none of the bargemen assisted in the rescue, not even the man who threw the water. Although the Marblehead police investigated the case, no arrests have been made.

The repeating rifle was known and accepted in sporting circles as early as 1840, but was not adopted by the United States army until 1864.

COX GIVES FUND "PROOF"

Declares Republicans Raising
$15,000,000—Shows List
Giving Quotas for 51 Cities

Boston's Quota $300,000,
Lowell's $25,000—Reads
From G. O. P. Bulletin

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—Information to support his charges that a republican campaign fund exceeding $15,000,000 was being raised "in a conspiracy to buy the presidency," was presented by Gov. Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, in addressing a public meeting here last night.

Gov. Cox's data consisted almost entirely of matter taken from the official bulletin of Fred W. Upham of Chicago, treasurer of the republican national committee, but his chief exhibit was a typewritten list purporting to show republican campaign quotas imposed on 51 principal cities in 27 states and aggregating $8,145,000.

Names of local subscribers, Gov. Cox said, were ordered kept secret. These quotas, given as $2,000,000 for New York city, $750,000 for Chicago, $500,000 for Philadelphia, and ranging down to $25,000 for smaller cities, like Albany, N. Y., Lowell, Mass., and Atlanta, Ga., were said by Gov. Cox to have been announced about the middle of July.

That Senator Harding, his republican opponent, "was acquainted with the details" of the quota plan and that it was also approved by Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, was charged by the democratic candidate.

From subsequent issues of the Official Bulletin, Gov. Cox quoted many reports from republican workers throughout the country, reporting going "over the top" and in excess of the alleged quotas.

Big Metropolitan Quotas
Announcement of the $8,145,000 metropolitan quotas, Gov. Cox said, was made by Harry M. Blair, assistant to Treasurer Upham. A meeting was held in Chicago, Gov. Cox said, at which Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, "spoke his blessings."

The governor charged that typewritten sheets bearing the 51 cities' quotas were "distributed to those assembled, and he produced one of the alleged quota lists, but did not state how or where it was acquired. The quota plan, he said, was carried out like that of the Liberty loan campaign."

That the reputed attempt to raise $8,145,000 from 51 cities in 27 of the 48 states (fair evidence that the total national fund will be much larger), was declared by Gov. Cox, who said big business men were prominent on the republican ways and means committee and that the raising of funds was on a business "salesmanship" basis.

Gov. Cox also quoted from statements in the republican bulletin that state and county organizations were not to be "disturbed or retarded in their activities."

Calling attention to Chairman Hays' statement that $3,000,000 was being raised, Gov. Cox said that yesterday's papers carried a statement from Treasurer Upham that the republican total would be about $7,500,000.

"From the evidence which we shall submit," Gov. Cox added, "I think you will agree that we are justified in multiplying Mr. Upham's figures by two."

Gov. Cox, standing staunchly by his charges that an attempt to purchase the presidency was being made, declared that "the senatorial oligarchy and their friends are harking back to the days of Mark Hanna," stating that in the 1896 campaign, which Mr. Hanna managed, $16,500,000 was spent.

"It was this foul thing," said Gov. Cox, "which Theodore Roosevelt brought to an end when he reformed the republican party. When he was

"The names and amounts subscribed by local donors should not be made public locally."

"I hereby give it wide and non-exclusive publicity," Governor Cox continued. "But why was the publication to be the only organ of the secret society? Why were the names of local contributors not to be made known? Was it because each contribution would carry its own meaning to the voters in the local communities? Or if secrecy were guaranteed in the communities were Mr. Hays and Mr. Upham to do the same thing in submitting their returns on box office receipts? Certainly there is some reason. What is it? The public is entitled to know. If Mr. Hays and Mr. Upham do not come forward with the information the republican national committee ought to remove only.

Unexplained, it carries its own condemnation and exposes the purpose of the whole shameful business. It stands that they will have representation."

Endorsed Higher Up
The quota plan, Gov. Cox charged, was approved by Chairman Hays and Treasurer Upham, and also he added, "It received endorsement from a higher source."

RED PILLS

Bring Strength to Pale and Weak Women

For a long time I had kept on working, although I was a very sick woman, but I finally had to give in and was compelled to remain in bed, for I became dizzy every time I tried to stand up. One day, while scanning the advertisements in our local newspaper something prompted me to try the RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. I was always cold and I therefore concluded that those pills which were so highly recommended for purifying and increasing the blood would be appropriate to my particular case. At the second box I began to gradually get better, and then from day to day my health improved, my pains in the sides soon disappeared, my blood circulated more freely and became normal, and after taking twenty boxes I was strong and well and fleshy and have remained so ever since, even though I still work very hard.—Mrs. Melina Fraser, 1405 Elm Street, Manchester, N.H.

Above all other things, RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are a tonic and aim directly and in a particular manner towards the cause of all organic troubles: anaemia or poverty of blood.

RED PILLS make good rich blood out of poor blood; they restore strength, courage and give a consciousness of buoyant health, as melancholy and sadness soon fade away when one enjoys perfect health. Women whose lives have been made miserable by ill-health and suffering, have a brighter outlook on life when they have been restored to good health by RED PILLS.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are known by thousands as being the best tonic ever, as they may be taken by women at all ages, even by those with the most delicate constitutions.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 30 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

Change of life, that critical epoch in the life of a woman, made its appearance accompanied by the various ailments it usually brings along, such as dizziness, hot flashes, chills, backaches, weakness, etc. I became frightened and terrified, as my future health seemed very hopeless. I was further convinced of this by the fact that I had tried different kinds of medicine, but with no avail, as I still remained in the same condition. I then tried RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, and was astonished and at the same time delighted to feel myself getting stronger and well every day. I am now most anxious to pass on this information, so that other women may be helped as I have been.—Mrs. Hilaine Robert, 20 Dutton Street, Lowell, Mass.

Cox Gives Final Proof

Senator Harding, the republican nominee, in the Official Bulletin of Aug. 5, Governor Cox said that Senator Harding expressed his gratitude for "the enthusiasm shown" in raising the campaign fund.

"That Mr. Harding is acquainted even with the details of the enterprise is evidenced by a subsequent passage," said Governor Cox, "which is as follows:

"Through the fine work of your organization we are hearing that form of political patriotism which expresses itself in support from every county, every state. Therefore, I want all members of your organization to feel that their efforts are essential to our success in planning for national enlightenment and deeply appreciated by me."

Governor Cox said he depended "wholly for the purpose of making proof of his charges," upon official documents which came from republican headquarters. He did not plan to send a note to the senate campaign investigation committee, stating privately that the committee could get its information from his address.

Besides his statement on republican finances, which he prepared with great care yesterday, on the train en route from Evansville, Ind., and while he read to his audience last night, the democratic candidate also discussed the League of Nations and industrial problems, urging settlement of strikes without the bayonet.

"The 'normalcy' as voiced by their candidate as envisioned by his masters," said Governor Cox, in this connection, referring to Senator Harding, "is bayonets at the factory door, unrestrained profiteering at the gates of the farms, the burden of government on shoulders other than their own and the federal reserve system as annex to big business. When the American people fully grasp the sinister menace hanging over them they will shun it as a plague."

Returning to the campaign fund

question Governor Cox reminded his audience in order, he said, to reach a proper understanding, that recent contribution of large sums by business interests began in the case of Senator Newberry of Michigan.

His present charges, the governor declared, of a fund "so stupendous as to exceed the realm of legitimate expense means but one thing: imminent danger of an odious and corrupt campaign."

Newberry Case

Senator Newberry, the candidate continued, "was convicted in a republican state and community, before a republican judge, grand and petit juries." The Newberry charges, Governor Cox noted, also were denied.

"One would have thought," said the speaker, "that this experience would have had its restraining influence on subsequent events, but the resolve of certain interests to take over the affairs of our government amounts apparently to a mania. Unaffected by the Newberry episode, money was spent after it had been collected from business interests in the pre-convention campaign in such sums that the whole country was shocked by the scandal. Millions of dollars admittedly were expended in behalf of its candidates."

"The Newberry affair and the preliminaries to the national convention are now admitted public facts. They are recounted as first symptoms of an insidious contagion that continues. Judging the future by the past the people themselves must bring it to an end. Nothing apparently except the stiff shock of expressed public condemnation at the polls will be effective."

"The Newberry lesson went unheeded by the interest behind presidential candidates in the spring and early summer of 1920, and the admonition which the multiplied circumstances of the very recent past would ordinarily carry to the normal mind is insufficient to stay the hand of greed, of conspiracy and corruption, which it is now my duty to expose."

Governor Cox recited how the republican ways and means committee was organized last December, and its work, he said, was "vigorously pushed from the very first." Its local chairmen, he said, "were business men, in most instances very wealthy men." In this connection he quoted from a letter of John Kirby, Jr., chairman of the Dayton, Ohio, committee, of Feb. 7 last, stating, "This is a purely business men's movement."

Commercial Enthusiasm

"It took on the impetus of a commercial enthusiasm," Governor Cox continued. "The philosophy running through all the literature is emphasized by the recurrent terms of salesmanship. The plan was not only to organize every state, but every county in the United States. Definite quotas were established in precisely the same manner as the Liberty loan campaigns were conducted, population and bank deposits apparently being the base of calculations. In addition to the local chairmen, state managers were engaged, travelling representatives operated between them and the community organizations; salaries running as high as five hundred dollars a week and expenses have been paid in order to create and maintain enthusiasm and morale. An official document was published, intended, as it later will be shown, for the eyes exclusively of the men and corporations who are a part of the movement."

Governor Cox quoted at length from many issues of the Upham "Bulletin." The first issue of July 17, the candidate said, contained this sentence:

Experience Necessary

"Nobody is going to have anything to do with this bulletin who has not had actual experience in digging up money in the field."

A statement by Mr. Upham said that Senator Harding's election was the "job" and involved "the simplest principles of salesmanship, knowledge in our goods, faith in our goods, tact and energy in presenting our goods," Governor Cox declared.

Describing the fund managers as "money diggers," Governor Cox said

Mr. Upham's assistants were Harry M. Blair, Edwin L. Quarles, assistant to Mr. Blair; C. W. Lee, eastern division director; Henry F. Owen, central division director; Charles A. McKeand, western division director, and E. G. Fitzgerald, office manager.

Governor Cox read a bulletin statement by Mr. Blair that the efforts for funds for 41 states would be directed from main headquarters.

At this point Governor Cox presented the list of 51 large cities and he said, the allotment would be 31 cents per capita for each man, woman and child of their 15,500,000 population.

Contrary to an intention announced previously, Governor Cox added that he "intended to pass this evidence" to the senate investigating committee.

Big Quota From Ohio

"The sum of $2,145,000 is to come, not from 27 states, but from the largest cities in 27 states," said the governor. "New York state is represented by only six places, New York City, Buffalo, Rochester and Albany and yet Franklin D. Roosevelt announces that the county of Dutchess a suburban and rural community, was assessed $32,000. But let us see whether the quotas placed upon the larger cities were exceeded. Again we come for proof to the Official Bulletin, which, under date of August 10, says: Boston, Mass., had a 90 per cent. attendance at an organization meeting on August 4. This is an excellent record for a hot day. Real interest was aroused, Senator Weeks inspired them with an understanding of the situation and they agreed to produce."

That they did produce is proved by the Bulletin of August 10, 1920 when telegrams received that day were published. Among others we see the following: Metropolitan Boston will contribute more than 250 per cent. of its original quota, which would turn the Boston fund from $300,000 to $750,000.

Cities Overassess

"The Columbus, Ohio, quota is $100,000, and yet in the Bulletin of August 10 a telegram from Columbus is inserted, carrying these reassuring words: Then, too, the end is not yet, for it is probable the sum of $150,000 for the state and national treasury will stand to the credit of Columbus before the first day of September. Then a little color was given to the story. Proud of achievements, Henry E. Owen, the divisional director, who sent the telegram, evidenced his pride in how things were going by submitting details as to just how it was accomplished. Mr. Owen said: This is how it was done: Two busy men gave two hours a day for 10 consecutive days in interviewing and soliciting, and they turned the trick. That was intended as a hint to the 'money diggers' is shown by the paragraph in Mr. Owen's telegram, which says: Every state director, every city director, can do like Kelly did; get the right man to see the right people. Do it quickly and systematically."

Eight Millions Not Liable

"That the $8,000,000 fund is not to be the final total in the country at large has already been clearly proved by the statement by Mr. Blair himself. Further information is supplied by official republican documents. For instance, the Bulletin under date of August 5, announces: 'The following cities in Tennessee are all organized for the production of their quotas Chattanooga, Nashville, Memphis and Knoxville. Only one of these cities is in the $8,000,000 list—Memphis is assigned $25,000. The Bulletin of August 16 announces Chattanooga overassessed its quota this week. The balance of the Tennessee cities are being carefully canvassed.'

"Not a city in Arkansas is listed in the $8,000,000 class. Only one city in Georgia—Atlanta. Not a single city in North Carolina, and yet David H. Blair wired the Bulletin as follows: 'Why not urge the rest of the United States to emulate the example of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia and North Carolina, which are all over the top? North Carolina went over on the 27th of July and the end is not yet.'

"In the state of Michigan only one city, Detroit, is put in the $8,000,000 class, and yet the Bulletin, under date of August 10, says that: 'Flint, Mich., business men decided to make their campaign short and snappy and finish by August 15. Grand Rapids Mich., committee of large business men working enthusiastically to bring campaign to speedy conclusion. The Bulletin of August 16 says: 'Campaign in Pontiac, Saginaw, Alma, Bay City, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven started during the past week. Forty counties in Michigan now campaigning.'

Besides Miss Bielby, Margaret Woodbridge, Detroit A. C., and Eleanor Ehl of Philadelphia won their respective heats in the 300 metre free stroke and Francis Crowell Schrott of San Francisco, captured a second place. In the men's 400 metre free stroke, F. K. Kabele, U.S.N., and Lady Lan-store. The receivers claim that Daniels gave no valid consideration for the transfer, and that the purposes of Pon-zi in making the settlement, were known to and connived at by Daniels, who acted and still acts as a mere agent of Ponzi, in receiving and retaining the money paid him.

It is further alleged that Daniels is the owner of a large block of shares in the Daniels & Wilson Furniture Co., and if he fails to return to the receivers the money paid him by Ponzi they ask that the court order the sale of his stock and apply the proceeds in settlement of their claim against him.
Judge Sisk issued a temporary injunction against Daniels, and an order of notice was made returnable on Sept. 2.

The receivers today formally seized the expensive home of Ponzi in Lexington, and the several automobiles which he bought in his days of affluence. The wife and mother of the imprisoned promoter were allowed to continue their residence there and it is understood they will not be distur-

that republicans were raising a $15-000,000 fund to "buy" the presidency.
Then, just before his train pulled out,
he received newspaper men.

Asked if he would press his charges further, Mr. Cox replied:

"Yes. You will have new leads in a week, I think."

Referring to an announcement from
Will H. Hayes, chairman of the republican national committee that individual campaign contributions would be restricted to $2000, Mr. Cox said:

"Mr. Hayes knows that such a statement isn't true. The methods used by the republicans are to get some big fellow to give $20,000 or $25,000, after which 19 or 24 dummy names are written down as contributors on the party's books. No one needs to worry about my not naming the sources of the funds which I have accused the republicans of raising."

Mr. Cox said that if the senate committee investigating campaign funds really wished him to appear before it in Chicago, he would do so.

"The committee," he added, "now has the necessary leads. If it wishes to investigate, it will call in republican state leaders and learn from them who the county and city leaders are and thus get all the details. I have every confidence that the committee will go to the bottom of my charges."

"A year ago I said that the republicans were going back to the methods of Mark Hanna and that they would be defeated with their own money. This still is my belief."

When Governor Cox was asked about reports concerning democratic national finance of a year ago, he said:

"I came on board the democratic ship July 7. I know nothing about what happened before that time."

"One thing I can tell you, though, is that I found a deficit but no money."

Representative August Lonnergan of Connecticut was one of the democratic leaders who accompanied Governor Cox when his train pulled out at 11.45.

JUDGE LINDSEY TALKS

Urges Extension of Juvenile Court Procedure Before Bar Association

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 27.—Judge Ben R. Lindsey, of the Denver juvenile court, addressed the American Bar association here today on obtaining "justice for parent and child without cost." He urged the extension of juvenile court procedure such as has been authorized in Colorado. He said: "I plead for a specialized institution in every large city, operating principally under the powers of civil and chancery courts in co-operation with various agencies, to handle, not only the problems of the parent and child, but a class of adults—mostly poor people—who might be treated very much as we treat children. In our work for a surer, simpler and less expensive justice for parent and child we have found many justifications for such a tribunal."

"While such a specialized institution must be based primarily in the chancery procedure, it may also be aided by the addition of a limited criminal procedure. This is precisely what we have done in a measure in my own experience. For while the court over which I have presided in my own city of Denver, for 26 years, is known as a place of dealing with lawless children, the problems of dependency, domestic or family relations in controversies not only between parents, but adults concerning their relations to children, have for 26 years occupied the largest part of its work."

"In practice in these cases there are absolutely no costs no matter what the controversy may be. The methods are the usual ones of these courts, by an informal conference about the table in a sort of clinic of human adjustment."

"One of the great difficulties of the criminal law is that we deal merely with the things that people do—not the people. We expect the same rule of penalty to fit every case. Instead of producing so-called equal and exact justice, it often produces just the contrary results. There are many cases of conduct or acts of individuals that might be defined as crime that can be handled much better in a chancery procedure to do justice than in a criminal procedure to impose punishment."

"We have in Colorado as to certain crimes extended a chancery procedure to adults. It is the first state so far as I know to make such an innovation."

"One secret of the success of these informal courts, to my mind, is the fact that in the very great majority of these cases, the whole purpose is to understand the people—to help them and not to hurt them and by kindly appeal to point out the mistakes of all and the good in all."

RED PIMPLES ALL OVER SCALP

Itched and Burned. Restless At Night. Cuticura Heals.

"First a head, dry scale appeared on my scalp that was very itchy. Then red pimples broke out and spread all over my scalp. They itched so much that I would scratch so it caused them to bleed. The itching and burning made me feel very restless at night."

"I was told to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and when I had used one cake of Soap and one box of Ointment the pimples all disappeared."

Friends of Czar, One Former Russ General, Lead Lowly and Obscure Life in New York

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—"I wanted to prove that the claim of the Bolsheviks that men of my class, the great middle class, in Russia, were incompetents, wasters and idlers was false."

This is how George Y. d'Hedberg, one of the best-known mining engineers in Russia and former major general in the czar's army and member of the Grand Duke Nicholas' staff, explains why he worked for weeks as a mechanic in a New York garage when he could have had important engineering positions by revealing his identity.

Consulting Engineer

d'Hedberg, stripped of land and money by the Bolsheviks, is now consulting engineer for a New York bearing factory.

Madame d'Hedberg, who was formerly Baroness Taube, is learning the mysteries of an American kitchen.

d'Hedberg was a wealthy ship-owner and mine operator at Rostov-on-Don. He served as captain in the Russo-Japanese war, and was wounded seven times in hand-to-hand engagements. Emerging as a colonel, d'Hedberg went into the reserve and resumed his technical studies. He developed large coal and other mining properties in Siberia.

Fought in World War

When the world war was declared in 1914, d'Hedberg went into service as an officer of transport. He was attached to Grand Duke Nicholas' staff and served until the revolution and the disintegration of the imperial army.

While on one of the campaigns d'Hedberg obtained a transfer for a sick doctor, attached to his department. That act later saved d'Hedberg's life.

With the collapse of the Kerensky regime and the seizure of power by the Bolsheviks, d'Hedberg was thrown into prison, and his property taken from him. He was condemned to be executed.

On the day before his scheduled death, a Bolshevik prison doctor came to him.

Doctor Saves Him

"You did me a good turn once," he said. "Now it's my turn."

It was the doctor d'Hedberg had transferred.

With the assistance of the doctor, he was smuggled into a hospital and later went to the Finnish border.

He stayed in Finland while General Yudenitch was in power. There he met Madame d'Hedberg, a refugee.

With a wife, little money, no English and a technical education, d'Hedberg came to America via Sweden to build his life anew.

Now d'Hedberg is starting again to "get up in the world," having graduated already from the garage job to the desk of a civil engineer. "And when I reach the top of my progress in here," he said, "and stand where I once stood in Russia, I will turn to the Bolsheviks and ask them to repeat that the bourgeoisie cannot make a living if left to their own devices."

KASINO PACKED FOR NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT

Eight hundred young people were given an evening of unusual enjoyment at the Kasino last evening. The attraction was "A Night in Tennessee," with "Pork Chop" Jackson as the chief member of the group of entertainers taking part in the performance. Music was furnished by Schell's Boston orchestra. The show was produced under the direction of Walter A. Brown and John P. Broderick was the accompanist. The evening's program was as follows:

Opening overture, "Come Away, Come Away," "Happy Days," "White Wings," "A Little Bit Off the Top," "Old New Hampshire Home," "Oh, Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me," "I'll See You in C-U-R-A," Michael L. Mone, "I Had a Gal, I Had a Pal," Walter A. Brown; "I'm Going to Dance My Way Right Back to Dixie Land," Geo. Merritt; "Daddy, You've Been a Mother to Me," Master Charles O'Brien; "Dandelion Blues," James Deignan; selections by Emerson four; "When He Gave You Mother, O'Mine," Peter Kane; "Greenwich Village Sue," Edward Donohoe; "That Wonderful Kid from Madrid," Josh Chapelle; specialty, "Pork Chop Johnson; grand finale, entire company.

NEW HEATING PLANT FOR KENWOOD SCHOOL

There is rejoicing among the children and parents of the Kenwood school district over the announcement that a contract has been let for installing new heating apparatus in the school building to the Hobson & Lawler company of Lowell. The cost is to be $4300.

The old heating system that was installed when the building was erected had proved too small for a building to which a large addition had been made. Therefore, there had been much discomfort and numerous colds for the children during seasons of low temperature. At the last annual town meeting the project of providing the school with proper heating apparatus was taken up, and it was voted that $3000 should be expended for the purpose. When the matter was looked into it was found that this sum would not be sufficient to provide the apparatus that was needed, and at a later special town meeting $2400 was added to the original appropriation.

Two other bids, besides that of the Hobson & Lawler company were received for supplying the new equipment. These were both from Lowell concerns. They were both turned down because they called for the placing of a foundation for the furnace by the school committee. The Hobson & Lawler company is to do all the work connected with installing the new apparatus with the exception of such as may require the services of a carpenter.

B. F. KEITH ADDS NEW HOUSES TO STREET

Lowell patrons of Keith's theatre will be interested to learn that eleven new houses have been added to the B. F. Keith vaudeville circuit in Greenough, New York to open labor day, making a total of 24 Keith enterprises in the metropolitan district.

Inasmuch as the opening of these new houses will allow many acts to play from three to four months in New York without leaving the city, the Keith interests will have a decided appeal to concert, opera and legitimate stars contemplating vaudeville and this will aid in building up a tremendous list of entertainment features upon which every house on the circuit will have an equal claim in making up its programs. Therefore, the patrons of Keith's theatres in Lowell may soon look forward to seeing some of the most noted stars in every line of theatrical endeavor appearing before them.

In addition to opening eight theatres in New York, E. F. Albee, president and chief owner of the Keith circuit, is building or is about to build new theatres in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Indianapolis and Toledo.

Up to the time we entered the war, the largest national drive for raising money had been a pension fund for clergymen, with $1,000,000 as its objective.

FAREWELL TO EDWARDS IN BOSTON TUESDAY

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Boston's demonstration in honor of Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the Yankee division, who has been transferred from command of the department of the northeast, will take place late next Tuesday afternoon. Gen. Edwards will leave at midnight Tuesday for New York.

The parade of Yankee division men and of other world war veterans will begin promptly at 5.30. Following the parade there will be a gathering on the common.

Gov. Coolidge and the governors of all the other New England states have been invited to be present.

It was announced last night that the Army and Navy union, John E. Gilheoly, commander, an organization of ex-service men, has been invited to participate in the parade. Many of the men in this organization served under Gen. Edwards.

The 10th Infantry band, James Coughlin, leader, and the Yankee Division Service band, under John J. O'Neil, have volunteered their services for the parade. The YD band is made up of former members of the 10th and 102nd field artillery regiments.

George S. Dane, director of singing in the community service, will lead the singing on the common.

No Likelihood of Reductions

been at least the usual number of buyers and that prices in most lines have been kept at the usual level. Most of the stores are reported to be well stocked with merchandise, and as a general proposition it may be said that there are no price concessions in prospect from wholesalers and jobbers that would be likely to make it possible to cut costs in the near future.

Few Price Reductions

Clothing dealers say that their business during the summer has been fully as good as a year ago. There has been comparatively little real reduction in prices except in the case of special seasonal lines in which it was desirable to reduce stocks.

The dream of lower-priced clothing for fall is generally said to be purely visionary. Goods that are to be sold during the next few months were largely ordered several months ago. The cost has already been fixed and to sell this merchandise the retailer must charge his normal profit if he is to continue to do business on the basis of success.

It is felt that there is a possibility that prices for spring clothing may be somewhat lower. Some merchants believe that the closing of the American Woolen company mills, and other similar establishments, and a somewhat general stagnation in the trade that is reported, is the prelude to an attempt to reduce wages.

It is pointed out that the present high price of clothing is due not so much to the high wages paid to woolen mill operatives as to the big incomes that are being made by the highly organized workers of the cutters-up, who make the different garments.

To Print on Reductions

The cloth in an average suit of clothes that sells at wholesale at from $35 to $45 costs perhaps $10. A large part of the rest of the whole-sale cost goes to the men and women who make the suits. The cutters-up have generally agreed that any reduction in the cost of production that may come about as the result of lower wages shall be passed along to the wholesaler, retailer and ultimate consumer.

It is believed by some that an effort will be made during the fall by some of the manufacturing houses to get their labor costs down to lower levels. If they succeed in doing this the lower prices may make their appearance when spring goods appear on the counters.

Houses dealing in women's wear are generally reported to have passed through a summer season that was possibly a little more prosperous than that of a year ago. Prices on the whole have averaged about the same as last summer with possibly a slight tendency to drop.

General Apathy

General apathy, it is reported, represents the attitude of the local trade as regards the placing of fall orders. Wholesalers and jobbers have shown a tendency to shade prices lately and there is a general inclination to hold off from placing business until it seems reasonably certain that the peak of recessions has been reached. The cuts in prices that have been made are believed to have been due to the fact that merchants and manufacturers who were carrying large stocks for speculative purposes have been forced to unload as a result of the contraction of bank credits.

Prices for standard grades of shoes, it is reported, are likely to show an advance when the fall season opens of at least 15 per cent. On fancy, higher-priced shoes the advance will probably be larger. Both manufacturers and retailers are said to be looking for a very prosperous winter.

During the summer the local retail dealers as a rule have transacted about an average volume of business. Both profits and prices have been somewhat less than they were last year due to the fact that large quantities of shoes were delayed in production by freight tie-ups, and these were forced on the market late in the season and it was necessary to make price concessions to get them quickly into consumers' hands.

Jewelers Are Happy

A local jewelry store proprietor, who has recently attended jewelry conventions in Providence, R. I., Portland, Me., and Laconia, N. H., states that his found representatives of the trade very optimistic regarding the outlook for the future. The big jewelry factories of Providence and the Attleboro are reported to be running on full time and hiring every worker who applies for a job. Business in the local stores as a whole has been even better than it was last summer, and there have been no price concessions of importance and it is said that there are none in sight. About the only signs of any let-up in the manufacturing end of the industry that are in sight is the somewhat more adequate supply of stocks that appears to be in existence. It is now possible to secure deliveries much more promptly than has been the case at times in the past. The feeling in the trade seems to be that while the peak of high prices has been reached there will be but little, if any, lowering of costs in the near future. Summed up it may be said that the retail merchants of Lowell as a whole are looking forward to a fall and winter season of at least average prosperity.

Russians Suffer Huge Losses

The Poles along the frontier. An official statement, issued just before midnight, says that two soviet battalions had been captured by the retreating Russians fired upon the Poles and that the soviet forces are also using machine guns against the Poles on this sector. Polish troops who have reached the frontier, have been cautioned by their commanders not to fire upon German territory.

While there has been a lull in the

PLOT TO KILLPRES. COMISKEY

Head of White Sox and Office Force Marked for Death on Sept. 16

Boy Bandits Confess to Plot
to Kill Men and Steal Receipts on "Ruth Day"

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Confession of a plot to shoot Charles A. Comiskey, baseball magnate and the office force and police guard at the White Sox baseball park office Sept. 16, was made to the police today by three boy bandits who were arrested yesterday in an attempted robbery of a $40,000 payroll of Wilson & Co., stockyards packers.

According to the police, the three said that they intended to steal the gate receipts of the White Sox-Yankees game Sept. 16, when they figured "Babe" Ruth would draw a record breaking attendance. They said they know that Comiskey was not permitted by his physicians to watch the games but he was in the box office every afternoon.

They told the police that yesterday they planned to kill the bank messenger and escape with the $40,000 payroll.

James Ryan, one of the trio was identified at the state attorney's office as a member of the gang that shot and killed Detective Sergeant Frank McGuirk recently while the detective was defending a vinegar company's plant against a robbers' raid.

Russians Suffer Huge Losses

by Bolshevik officers who have been taken prisoner.

General Tuchalschewski has made a remarkable career in the Russian army. He is of noble birth, and at the outbreak of the world war, was captured by the Germans. He escaped and resumed his place in the army, rising to the rank of lieutenant. When the soviet government was established, he was promoted, and rose to high command being credited with the defeat of Admiral Kolchak in Siberia under General Denikine in southern Russia. He is but 25 years old.

Gen. Weygand Talks

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Bolshevik reaction against Polish armies along the front east of Warsaw, is not expected, at least for the present, by General Weygand, who is credited with having directed the defense of the Polish capital and hurled the soviet armies back from that city, according to the Warsaw correspondent of the Petit Parisien. General Weygand is quoted as saying, "The Poles should not advance too far eastward but should entrench themselves along a line that can be easily held, so that they may be able to resist any effort of soviet Russia to bring overwhelming forces upon them in future."

"It is most difficult to be a prophet at this moment," the correspondent quotes the general as saying, "but seeing that General Wrangel, in south Russia, is going well, I hope the Bolsheviks will not be able to find any considerable forces to bring against Poland. Russia possesses vast resources, but we can, for the moment, feel reassured, for the Bolsheviks undoubtedly used everything available to take Warsaw."

"General Wrangel seems strong and well equipped and in his progress, which is not haphazard but systematic, one gets the impression that he is administering skillfully in occupied territories so that he will not, like General Denikine, leave revolt behind him. We may then, be optimistic, and I leave Warsaw with an excellent impression of the situation and full of hope, but am convinced that hard work is needed to make the Polish army worthy of its task."

"If peace is not concluded before winter, the Poles should establish themselves in positions that would enable them to resist victoriously a possible future offensive. They should not go too far, however, but should choose a strong line and build up an organization behind it so as to be prepared for any eventuality."

Cannot Halt Now

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—At Marshal Foch's headquarters yesterday, staff officers were discussing the Polish situation and agreed that the "campaign of Poland" is virtually ended as far as heavy fighting and maneuvering is concerned. The officers' opinion was that, except for an expected stand by the Bolsheviks before Grodno, no further pitched battles are likely to occur.

Bending over large maps of Poland, the officers' main topic of discussion: "Where will the Polish armies halt and entrench?"

"Ethnographical frontiers are not necessarily the best strategic frontiers," one officer said. The opinion was freely expressed that it would be folly for the Polish commanders to place themselves in a state of strategic inferiority by halting within a kilometre of the frontier fixed by the Versailles treaty, especially in the centre.

Under the terms of the Versailles treaty, the eastern Polish frontier commences with the East Prussian line, passes east of Suwalki to the west of Grodno, through Gaiynovka, Brest-Litovsk and Wlodawa to a point west of Vladimir Volynsk, through Brody and ends of Kamenska Podolsk.

It was explained to the Associated Press that the Polish left wing, resting on the Nieman river, and the right, holding behind the river Zbruch, were safe against attack. The centre, however, was the weak spot in the line, the officers declared, having no natural defence and being always exposed to a possible offensive return by the Bolsheviks, which might cut the line in half leaving both wings up in the air. From a purely military and strategic point of view, it would be imperative, they said, that the Polish centre be advanced 40 or 50 kilometres beyond the line fixed by the Versailles treaty.

to the western edge of the Pripiet marshes.

Foch Praised Weygand

Marshal Foch, in a published interview yesterday morning, said: "Gen. Weygand, with great energy, great vigilance and great precision and accuracy, has proved once more his wonderful facilities and remarkable knowledge of great military questions. Gen. Weygand deserves it."

proved his ability to lead forces to the front and to create and utilize the possibilities of the rear."

Asked whether they had any contradiction of a report which had been current in Paris that Gen. Weygand would be made "Marshal of Poland," the officers said they did not know, but great military questions, Gen. Weygand deserves it."

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

It now looks as if the next amendment to the constitution may be one which would take away from the senate the veto power which it now holds on all treaties with foreign nations and transfer that function to the national house which to a much greater degree represents the sentiments of the people on all public questions.

This change has been advocated before on various occasions, the claim having been made that the senate was originally invested with this power by the framers of the constitution for the reason that they did not then wish to rely upon the representatives, not knowing exactly what action they might take relative to international agreements. Accordingly the power was placed in the more conservative body, which corresponds to the house of lords in the British parliament.

This proposed change has been forcibly brought to public attention by no less an authority than ex-Gov. Samuel W. McCall in a strong article in the Atlantic Monthly for September, in which he says:

"If then we are to have open, free and responsible government the senate must be reformed, and no time is more auspicious than the present to begin with that branch of its jurisdiction as to which the people are having such a striking object-lesson. Let us take a first step in the direction of popular and efficient government and amend the constitution so that treaties shall be ratified by the house of representatives."

Undoubtedly Mr. McCall's article has been suggested by the action of the United States senate in rejecting the peace treaty. Republican leaders are criticizing the democratic administration as "a one-man government," which it necessarily must be to a great extent during a war such as we have passed through, and, owing to the action of the senate, we are still officially at war with Germany. That is a sufficient excuse for the authority temporarily exercised by President Wilson under the stress of war and war conditions.

The tables, however, have been effectively turned by ex-Gov. McCall who now ably points out the necessity of transferring the power of ratifying treaties vested in the senate to the representatives of the people. In France the chamber of deputies co-operates with the president in making international compacts; in England it is the house of commons and not the house of lords that makes the treaties; so the ex-governor reasons that we should not rely upon the upper branch of congress but rather upon the representatives, who are elected biennially. The senate, he holds, can never be a thoroughly responsible body for the reason that only one-third of its members can be brought before the people for election at any one time. For this reason it is argued that it should not be given a veto power over any treaty or international agreement favored by the president and perhaps also by the people.

Mr. McCall can cite eminent authorities in favor of the reform which he now proposes, among the number being Secretary of State John Hay, who served under McKinley and who was one of the ablest secretaries the nation has had since the Civil war.

Senator Harding is making an issue of what he terms the "one-man government" and he has described the criticism of the senate as "a reflex of mob mentality." It is probable that in the course of the present campaign, the attitude of the senate in defeating popular measures, will receive considerable attention from the democratic leaders. The British house of lords became obnoxious on account of rejecting popular measures and as a result its veto power was limited and made ultimately subordinate to the will of the commons. There is no doubt that the change proposed by ex-Gov. McCall would result in a more satisfactory method of framing and ratifying treaties, a function of government which must ever be regarded as one of supreme importance.

THE SUFFRAGE VICTORY

Woman suffrage is proclaimed and the fight that has been waged for nearly a century is at last triumphant. The part of our constitution which provides for elections by the people has heretofore been interpreted as having reference only to men but under the 19th amendment it is made to apply equally to women.

In other words, the women under this amendment are invested with the franchise and will hereafter have an equal voice with men in the decision of all political questions. It is certainly a great victory for the women, particularly for those who have devoted years of active work to the cause of woman suffrage.

The suffragettes are no longer a joke or a body of agitators to be laughed at as the irrepressible advocates of an impossible reform, which with amazing rapidity has become law.

Well may the leaders rejoice in this splendid victory. Associated with this great triumph will live the names of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony, Lucy Stone, Julia Ward Howe, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Alice Paul and many others.

It is not at all probable that any further attempt will be made to block the ratification on technical grounds and hence the women of every state in the union will have full power to vote in the next national election.

The states in which full suffrage was enjoyed by women previous to this amendment were: Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Alaska, Montana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Michigan, South Dakota. Women had presidential suffrage previous to the amendment in the following fourteen states: Arkansas, Texas, Indiana, Maine, Rhode Island, Vermont, Iowa, Illinois, No. Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and Tennessee. Thus it appears that after all, the amendment will not effect such a change in conditions as has been generally supposed.

There will be much speculation as to the effect of suffrage on political conditions and second, on the women themselves. It is yet too soon to form an accurate idea upon either question; but it is generally believed that women will be more easily stirred and stampeded than the men. The presidential election offers them a good opportunity of showing their political judgment on a great issue.

EGYPT SET FREE

If it be true that England has conceded the independence of Egypt, the fact may indicate a change of policy that will strengthen the empire. Here at our shores we have a friend in Cuba whose freedom we secured and then left her to make the most of it with the proviso that if she failed to use it properly we should go in and take charge. We have had no occasion to intervene, but if we need the aid of Cuba it is ready at any time. When we entered the world war, April 6, 1917, it took Cuba just one day to decide upon what she would do and her entrance to the war was made on April 7, 1917. In a similar way England can make Egypt her sincere friend by granting her independence and in spite of the disturbed condition of Ireland, she can make that country a real friend of the empire by granting her independence on conditions similar to those now existing between the United States and Cuba.

England encroached upon Egypt in order to defend the Suez canal and finally assumed control of the country in 1882. British authority has since been vigorously opposed and it became apparent that Egypt could not be held without an array of occupation. England has trouble enough with her colonies without assuming others that may prove serious. If she would now do with Ireland what she has done for Egypt, she would take a great step towards peace at home and abroad. Ireland can make more trouble than half a dozen Egypts.

The average cost of bituminous coal at the mines in West Virginia is $2.53 a ton. Lowell industries are paying around $20 a ton for the same kind of fuel. A federal trade commission report says in regard to coal prices, "There is a large margin for profiteering and this is the situation against which the industrial world and consumers must contend."

Our sympathies are expressed for Henry Sullivan in his second failure to swim the English channel and become famous. We would advise Henry not to try it again. It is largely a matter of luck, of striking the right condition of the tide and the weather but the ordeal is too strenuous to justify repeated trials to hit the favoring tide.

A Lowell business concern is to adopt the policy of giving its customers, who pay cash and are willing to tote home their own packages, a five per cent discount which may afford an opportunity for effective action in cutting the cost of living. Much will depend upon the standard of prices from which the reduction is made.

"No newspaper, however modest its conductors may be in private," says our contemporary, "hesitates to announce that it is the best and ablest in its community." Yes, some so-called newspapers are brazen liars, but the people soon find them out and place them where they belong.

It is "perfectly" apparent that Senator Harding should consult his dictionary and then reform his usage of the word "perfectly." Perhaps, though, there is a man who writes some of his speeches that needs to do the dictionary-consulting.

State Commissioner of Public Works Synan thinks that long-term planning is the secret of good roads. Long-term lack of planning is plainly enough one of the principal causes of bad ones and there is no particular secret about it.

The returning vacationists who are not being compelled to pay extra charges on their excursion tickets, can thank the newspapers for having helped to put the kibosh on the attempt of the railroads to repudiate their contracts.

When you see an article priced 74 cents in a store one day, and the next day see the same thing displayed in the show window marked 39 cents, do you conclude that the merchant is a profiteer or a philanthropist?

"Credit expansion is being checked" is the answer the Federal Reserve board has furnished you for use the next time a friend attempts to touch you for $5.

It may be well to remember that it was a Massachusetts woman—Susan B. Anthony—who laid deep and secure the foundations upon which the proud suffrage structure of today is built.

It is not impossible that the inspiration for Senator Harding's appeal for harmony in republican ranks may have come from a knowledge of the troubled waters of G. O. P. strife in Massachusetts.

A group of 25 barefooted young women have danced as part of a Pilgrim celebration on Cape Cod. We do not need even to guess as to what the Pilgrims would have thought of this.

Today there is placed before the public a very pointed object lesson of the fact that wage increases must always result in raises in the cost of articles produced by labor for which the wages are paid.

Superintendent of Police Welch deserves the gratitude of all Lowell people for all that he has done, and is doing, to make travel on the highways safe and reasonably enjoyable.

Sometime it may sound a little less than it does now like an echo from the tomb to hear that something is to be done about the abolition of the Middlesex street grade crossing.

One Lowell woman discovered a quick road to fame when she asked to have her name stricken from the registration lists because she does not want to vote.

Now that water freight rates are also to be advanced 40 per cent, the shipper is indeed between his Satanic majesty and the deep sea.

A judge decided that a wife is worth $20,000. From that you may be able to imagine what a vastly larger sum a husband must be worth.

Ponzi's receivers have received thus far only $25,000 in cash belonging to the former wizard. Auditor Price reports his liabilities as being $7,000,000. Nuff said.

A deer made its appearance near the Vesper Country club the other evening. "Deers" long have been plentiful around Lowell.

France, sending ammunition to fight the "Beds" alone among the allies can say: "Poland, we are here."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

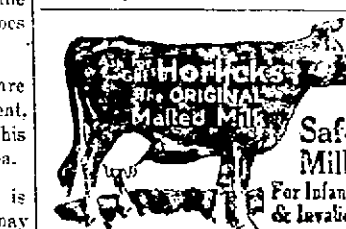

The usual mid-afternoon duress of Thursday had settled in Merrimack Square. There weren't 50 people in sight no matter where one looked. Now and then an automobile would turn from Central street into Merrimack and at intervals an electric car would make its noisy way into the square. Then the few people who were standing around noticed a trio of barefooted urchins making their way up Central street evidently intent on amusing themselves in any way feasible. Suddenly one of them "spotted" the traffic post at the junction of Central and Merrimack streets and the officer who is usually on duty there was for the time being absent. What a golden opportunity! One of the youngsters darted to the traffic post, saw a machine coming up Central street and signalled to it with all the proficiency of a veteran officer. Smilingly the driver turned up Merrimack street and soon another car came along. "Hey, your lights are out," shouted the youthful traffic director, despite the fact it was only 3 o'clock in the afternoon. And so on, for 10 or 15 minutes, the youngsters had the time of their lives directing traffic while by-standers looked on in amusement.

With the opening of the local schools and colleges fast approaching, the manufacturers are confronted with the labor turnover caused by young people returning to their studies. Of course, this city is no worse off than any other in that matter, and it is almost a certainty that the places vacated by the young people returning to school will be filled up rapidly. On the other hand, if help does prove short and all such vacancies cannot be filled, manufacturers and others are not likely to feel any great inconvenience because of the duress and the fact that some surplus help was carried through vacation. The construction trades can least afford to lose any of their present force.

As we all know, there are some people who don't like to be fooled themselves, but are always ready to take a whack at another fellow. I have in mind the case of a jeweler who sold a $50 ring to a drunk in his store. Now that man may have wandered in to the jeweler's to buy something, with but a hazy idea of what he was doing. Of course, one way to look at the affair is, that the man might just as well have spent his money for the ring as to have it taken from him, but that doesn't justify a dealer in selling an article to an intoxicated person, for such an amount. So far as the purchaser was concerned, he could not tell whether the ring was worth five dollars or five cents. If he had the ring when he sobered, he probably didn't remember where he bought it or what he paid for it.

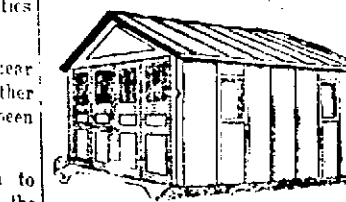

I ran into an unusual happening last night—that is, it was an unusual happening for the present time, although it would have been common enough not so very long ago. I was standing at the corner of Central and Jackson sts. when I was approached by an individual of uncertain gait and somewhat seedy appearance who addressed me: "Say, mister, gimme half a dollar to get something to eat, will yer? I'm hungry." There were the unmistakable signs of the street beggar of former days, only the most noticeable of these this time was an odor of "Jakey" instead of straight booze. The first thought that occurred to me was, how long has it been since I have been "touched" in the street in this way. I nudged my brain to recall the last instance, but it happened so long ago that my recollection of it was elusive. In the old days, in common with most other people who walked much about the street, I was approached at frequent intervals by street seekers after alms. But, the old-time beggar, apparently almost unnoticed, has practically disappeared. To prohibition or prosperity, or perhaps both. I suppose should be given the credit for the new order of things. Then, too, I was struck with the modern tenor of the request. In the old days it used to be, "Gimme ten cents to buy a plate of beans." But the spirit of the age has apparently hit the street beggar, and in an era when everything but the value of money is inflated why should not the alms-seeker be entitled to think that he should get his share. Also, it should be remembered, I suppose, that the price of booze, or its substitutes, that was usually camouflaged under the designation, "a plate of beans," also costs much more than it once did. At the present time I understand those who want real whiskey must pay at least 50 cents a drink.

SEEN AND HEARD

Nineteen days more before the faithful, but faded straw hat goes bi-bernatating.

We hope our Billerica neighbors won't insist on getting back that water pipe they loaned us after it's sunk into the ground.

We know just how Secretary Colby felt waiting for that letter from Tennessee. Just makes you feel that something has happened when there's such a delay.

Just when the railroad ticket office clerks were getting able to tell what time trains left and arrived in various places during the daylight saving period, along comes an upheaval in fare rates and their troubles begin all over again.

With the city filing a motion to have the decision on the Middlesex grade crossing reconsidered and a conference asked for regarding the new river line at First street, two badly needed improvements take on a new lease of life.

Brutal, But Effective:
Father—That young roller comes here too often; I want it stopped.
Daughter—I'm sure, father, I do all I can to discourage his visits.
Father—Nonsense! I haven't heard you sing for him once.—Boston Transcript.

No, Hum:
First Liar: "Pretty warm today."
Second Liar: "Warmer? Say, boy, it was so warm that awhile ago I saw a dog chasing a cat and they were both walking."

First Liar: "That's funny, I saw the same dog and cat awhile later, only they both had sat down awhile to rest."—American Legion Weekly.

In Absence
I am content with you away—
"Dearest," I speak, forgetting.
The line we could not find that day,
Here in the hidden book!

I move about the rooms, serene
My foot was nearly on the stair
To show you how this vine's soft green
Looked, hound about my hair.

I smile, and stitch my sliken dress—
Oh, almost I had risen, then,
To keep the house in quietness
Till you put down your pen—

My day goes swiftly, happily,
In this dear place, in these dear walls
But you are coming home to me,
Coming when darkness falls!
—MARGARET WIDEMER.

75,000 SOVIET REFUGEES IN EAST PRUSSIA

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—It is expected that the number of fugitive Russian soviet troops who are accompanied by many women and children in their flight from Poland into East Prussia, will by tonight reach 75,000. The ministry of defense will be obliged to transport the Russians to Pillau, 25 miles west of Königsberg, where they will embark for Swinemünde, near Stettin, or some other German Baltic port, en route to camps in the interior.

Because of her proclaimed neutrality, Germany is obliged to confine the fugitive Russians until the Russian-Polish hostilities are ended.

There are still 150,000 former Russian war prisoners in various German camps, and the food and quarantine questions present difficult problems. In addition, the confiscation of Russian rifles under German customs regulations threatens to leave the Bolsheviks penniless. Members of the inter-allied control commission are co-operating with German border officials, especially in disposing of the arms and munitions brought in by the Russians. Among the fugitives are units from several cavalry divisions.

GETS NAVAL TRANSFER

David Garrick, 585 Bridge street of the naval reserve force, made application for transfer to active duty at the local navy recruiting station this morning and was forwarded to Boston. Garrick is a coppersmith and will be given four months' pay and 30 days' leave before he resumes active duty with a squadron soon to sail for far eastern waters.

REGISTRATION IN NORTH BELLERICA

The last call comes tonight for the registration of voters who desire to participate in the state primaries to be held Sept. 7. The board of registrars is to be in session at the town hall during the evening. It is expected that a considerable number of women will take advantage of the opportunity to get their names on the voting lists. A total of 65 women have registered this year up to the present time. This number brings the total female registration close to the 200 mark.

Work on the new bridge over the Concord river near the site of the old red bridge is going forward slowly under the direction of Contractor Fannon. The west side foundation is complete. On the opposite side of the river it has been found difficult to find a suitable bottom for the foundation. A diver has been at work trying to locate the cause of leakage from the forms that are used for holding the cement filling in place.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR AUTO

Four men riding in a Maxwell touring car owned by Edward Desblens of North Chelmsford had a narrow escape from serious injury late yesterday afternoon when their machine nearly turned turtle in Riverside street. The car was being driven down Riverside street and when the corner of White street was reached one of the rear tires blew out. The machine swerved to one side and was about to crash into the fence along the river bank, when the chauffeur managed to swing to the right. The automobile turned completely around, but no one was injured.

Horses in the United States decreased 1.4 per cent in number last year.

BANKER DAVISON CALLS ON SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Several important conferences, an afternoon automobile trip to speak at Gallon, Ohio, and an evening reception here to Marion women in celebration of the grant of suffrage, were on Senator Harding's crowded engagement list for today.

Among the callers were Henry P. Davison, a partner in the Morgan banking house, and Fred D. Underwood, president of the Erie railway. The conferences between them and the nominee were understood to concern financial problems.

At Gallon the senator was to speak to a picnic of Erie railway employees and it was expected that he would make railway labor the subject of his short address.

SERIOUS MUTINIES ON PERUVIAN FRONTIER

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 26.—Reports received through official channels from the Peruvian frontier state that serious mutinies resulting in the killing of a number of persons, have occurred within the last few days among 15,000 Chilean troops reported to be concentrated in Tacna and Arica.

The mobilization reported is alleged to be political, for the purpose of removing from Santiago and Valparaiso troops which favor the presidential candidacy of Arturo Alessandri, nominee of the liberal alliance.

The reports state that the troops are clamoring to be returned to their homes. Machine guns were used during the disturbances and many were killed and wounded, the advices state.

TO SAVE SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY FROM RUIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Canadian shipbuilders are urging a direct subsidy for every ton of shipping built in the Dominion as a means of saving the industry from ruin, according to a report from Consul Felix Johnson at Kingston, received today at the department of commerce.

Many of the Canadian shipyards have been operated at a loss, the consul reported, and since the announcement by the Canadian government that there will be no extension of the shipbuilding program, it has been held that if shipbuilding is to continue a force in the industrial life of Canada, it must be developed along lines that will insure stability and permanence.

Canadian shipbuilding practically got its start from the encouragement given by the government during the war, the consul said. There are three yards in Nova Scotia; four in Quebec; six in Ontario, and four in British Columbia, he stated, with $50,000,000 invested in the industry.

American Beauties For Consideration of English Artist Who Comes Here Skeptical

Of course E. D. Hoppe, English artist and photographer to the king, had never seen many American beauties when he decided that five titled Englishwomen were the handsomest women in the world.

Otherwise—but that's obvious.

Here, Mr. Hoppe, are samples of American beauty that will help you change your mind: Upper left, Mrs. Walter J. Sullivan of Chicago; right, Mrs. C. C. Rumsay, New York City; lower left, Mrs. Angier B. Duke, daughter of A. J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia; and lower center, Mrs. E. B. McLean.

GOV. COX CONFERS WITH LEADERS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Potentialities of the democratic party assembled at the Pennsylvania station today to hold brief parley with their presidential nominee in his private car bearing him from Pittsburgh to New Haven on his eastern campaign tour.

Long before Gov. Cox's scheduled arrival here at 10:30 o'clock, George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the speaker's bureau, had rallied their forces in the railroad terminal to receive their chief, fresh from his declassification of republican campaign methods at Pittsburg and eager for another speech in New Haven today.

The governor's traveling plans allowed for scarcely more than an hour's halt in New York. During this period he planned not to leave the station, nor indeed his car, except to stretch his legs with a promenade up and down the platform.

Nothing in the way of reception was planned for the candidates short stay because of the fact that he will return tomorrow for his formal introduction to the residents of the metropolis in a series of engagements as guest successively of the National Democratic club, the police department and former Representative John J. Fitzgerald.

CUBS TO PLAY EXHIBITION GAME AT MARION

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 26.—The Chicago Cubs are to do their bit for Senator Harding's front porch campaign by coming to Marion on Sept. 2, to play a free exhibition game with an aggregation of local semi-professionals. The engagement was made today as a result of a chance remark by the senator that one of the big handicaps of the front-porch was his inability to see baseball games. William Winkley and A. D. Lasker, two of the chief owners of the Cubs and both connected with the publicity end of the Harding campaign, arranged for the trip and offered to loan the locals any Cub battery they might pick for the game. Foster and O'Farrell have been selected.

Both the senator and Mrs. Harding are fans, and they have promised to do their share to make the occasion a red-letter day at the Marion ball park.

The candidate will pitch the first ball. Admission will be free, but the limited space in the grandstand will be sold and the proceeds given to charity. Most of today, Senator Harding spent in consultation with party leaders on campaign policies. Among those on his appointment list were Senator McGill McCormick of Illinois; former Senator George Sutherland of Utah; and Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, former ambassador to France. It was understood that the league issue was the principal subject of discussion, both Mr. Herrick

EXCITING RACE IN THE TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Only half a game separates the South Ends and the Gillespies for the leadership of the Twilight League as a result of the victory of the latter over the league leaders last evening on the South common, 5 to 5.

The Gillespies showed their superiority over the South Ends in emphatic fashion in last evening's contest. The game was a close one and went only five innings owing to the darkness but that was long enough for the Washington machine men to do their work.

Sam Boulton was on the mound for the Gillespies and things his own way for four innings. In the fifth John Smith was introduced and his fast ball had the South Ends completely scared.

McCarthy worked in the box for the South Ends and except for an unfortunate opening inning, pitched fairly good ball. Four singles, a pass and an error gave the Gillespies a lead of five runs before the initial stanza was closed.

The South Ends did not give up the ship, however, and came back with two in the first and one each in the third, fourth and fifth. Free hitting gave the Gillespies their "catch" run in the fourth inning and two more in the fifth. Marcella of the Gillespies was the batting luminary with a home run and a single to his credit.

While Herb White and McVey figured in the field. Tonight the West Ends and Knights of Columbus will meet at 6 o'clock. The score:

Picnics Arranged by International Institute

Have Brought Joy to Hundreds of Children

"KIDS" LINED UP FOR WEDNESDAY'S PICNIC

"Aw, gee, no more picnics? That's tough luck," say the kids.

With the announcement that the picnic held last Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the International Institute in Palmer street, Miss Edna Merrill, director, was the last for this summer, disappointment has spread among many of the little boys and girls of different sections of the city. More than 370 "kiddos" and six mothers and their babies have enjoyed outings at Nabnasset pond under the care of Miss Merrill and so pleased have they been that even the smallest, toddling fellow is loudly proclaiming that he's "goin' ter get his pals ter ax Miss Merrill ter run more picnics."

The Institute held the first outing this summer on June 30, others on the following Saturdays, except when weather prevented, and the final one on Wednesday last. In each case the children were taken in a truck to Nabnasset pond for the afternoon, the start being made about 1 o'clock and the return to the city about 6 o'clock. The trucks and ice cream for the outings were donated by various firms and business men in the city through whose kindness the success of the undertaking was made possible.

In endeavoring to get the children who would enjoy the outing most, Miss Merrill took different sections of the city each week. Children from the following streets were taken on the picnic: Market, Adams, Suffolk, Tilden, Bradford Perkins, Prince, Summer, Moody, Gorham, Fayette and Lakeview avenue.

Misses Helen and Elizabeth Tutbill, Helen Burnham, Miss Kolank, a social service worker among the Poles, Mrs. Kyle of the Elliot church and Mr. Hockman, industrial secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., assisted Miss Merrill on various occasions.

This work has been carried out quietly each summer for the past few years by the Institute, working wonders among the children and bringing no reward other than the satisfaction that scores of boys and girls were made happy.

The International Institute is noted locally for its work among the foreign element. In the fall and winter months, besides the regular social service work which necessitates visiting many homes, representatives of the Institute instruct the women in how to sew, cook and mend. The Palmer street rooms are headquarters for many clubs of the foreign-speaking girls, where they gather to play or study. In the summer time many a hiking party starts out from the club. A group of little Polish girls has formed a scout troop and they take great interest in outdoor work.

But the picnics were liked best of all. As usual, the little fellows with tussled hair, faces blotched with mud and bare feet, outnumbered the little girls who are not lucky enough in having a game like baseball. And besides, the little overalls tots could go swimming in Nabnasset pond and not, just wading, like the girls.

"Gee, we can have more fun than the girls," say the boys. "We can play ball, paddle in the water, swim, if we want to, climb trees, swing and race. The little girls carry lunches, too. Us regular guys don't have ter have lunch just for one afternoon, the ice cream is all we want."

Baseball gloves resembling bags, and bats that looked like chair legs aged and splintered, were plentiful on every outing. Many a "Babe Ruth" was discovered by a "wallop" that sent a little taped ball sailing into the waters of Nabnasset to be rescued only by a champion swimmer of the team.

On each day set for the picnic the little ones were waiting long ahead of time ready for the rollcall and the signal for the start. Many a little tot has taken an afternoon off under the care of Miss Merrill at old Nabnasset and then returned home to tell his mother about the good time he had.

Trucks were furnished by the following: Lowell Gas company, F. J. Smith, Saco-Lowell shops, Massachusetts mills, William Oddie company, Father John's Medicine company, Hatch Box company and McGauvran Bros., and ice cream was furnished by D. L. Pagn, Cameron Bros., Cruikshank, Lowell Ice Cream company and the Boston Ice Cream company.

Force, Lieut. Freeman and Inspector Walsh and Miss Lynch, matron of the station, the following officers of the police department are enjoying their annual vacations: J. J. Sullivan, W. H. Kilroy, D. M. Lynch, Conscience, Goldrick, A. M. Kelley, Burke, Coleman, E. J. Conners, Keegan and James Maloney.

13-YEAR-OLD BOY SAVES GIRL FROM DROWNING

Margaret Perrell, aged 13, of Kenwood was saved from drowning about 7 o'clock last night by Oscar Jeffery, aged 13, also of Kenwood, after she had fallen into the Kenwood "swimming hole" in the Merrimack river. The girl was badly choked by the water and severely frightened, and after young Jeffery brought her to shore Carl Serenson of Kenwood and John Bradley of Belle Grove worked over her and succeeded in bringing her back to full consciousness.

The Perrell girl was playing about the bank of the river on a swing. She swung out over the water, lost her grip and fell into the river. The Jeffery boy who was fully dressed, bearing her cries, plunged into the water and pulled her out. The girl was then taken to her home and today seems none the worse for her experience.

DARING ESCAPE FROM PRISON

Man Wanted in Many Cities for Auto Thefts Flees From Boston Jail

Scaled Wall With Aid of Derrick Rope and Climbed Over Roofs Nearby

Said to Have Home in This City, But Lowell Police Unable to Verify Report

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Thomas Moreland, described by the police as wanted in many cities for automobile thefts, escaped from Charles Street jail today by scaling the wall with the aid of a derrick rope and climbing over the roofs of neighboring buildings while a construction gang gazed as if at a movie thriller. Moreland, who is also known as Donald Moran, was not in jail uniform, and by the time the onlookers realized that he was an escaping prisoner and gave the alarm, he had disappeared. He was arrested last Saturday and was awaiting trial on the charge of larceny of an automobile. Moreland's home is said to be in Lowell.

Up to an early hour this afternoon attempts to verify the statement that Moreland or Moran has a home in Lowell were of no result. The names used in connection with the above meant nothing to the local police who, on investigation, found no relating records on their books. The police add that the man may never have been arrested in Lowell and offer the possibility that the address is wrongly given.

HELD UNDER $1000 FOR FELONIOUS ASSAULT

Fortis Tatissos, aged 23 years, proprietor of a shoe shine parlor at Fletcher and Dutton streets, charged with felonious assault upon a five-year-old girl on Aug. 23, was ordered held under bail of $1000 for trial on Sept. 2 by Judge Pickman in police court this morning. The defendant was arrested on a warrant last night by Lieut. Pettie and Inspectors Moore and Conner. The assault was committed Monday.

NO INCREASE IN MILK PRICE SEPT. 1

There will be no increase in the price of milk the first of September, as had been generally anticipated both by dealers and consumers. It was announced this morning.

A meeting of dealers and farmers was held in the American house last evening at which the matter of increased charges was thoroughly thrashed out. It was only after extended debate that an agreement was reached, that prices should remain as they are at present.

How long present prices will remain unchanged is said to be problematical. One element in holding back an advance at the present time has been the fact that the price of milk is

LOWELL DEMOCRATS TO MEET GOVERNOR COX

Humphrey O'Sullivan, Postmaster John F. Meehan and Cornelius F. Cronin left Lowell today for New York city, where they are to meet Governor James Cox of Ohio, democratic nominee for president, at a luncheon tomorrow noon.

Mr. O'Sullivan was one of the delegates to the national convention at San Francisco where Mr. Cox was nominated and Messrs. Meehan and Cronin were also present at the convention. Following the convention, arrangements were made to have the Lowell men meet Governor Cox personally and inasmuch as he is to be in New York tomorrow, the local democrats are to take advantage of the opportunity to discuss with him the presidential campaign as it affects this vicinity. The Lowell men will return early next week.

MOTOMETER STOLEN FROM AUTOMOBILE

Another theft added to the number committed in the vicinity of Canal street, in the rear of the Russell building on East Merrimack street, was brought to the attention of the police last night when Edward W. Freeman, the jeweler, reported that a motometer was stolen from his automobile while it was parked near his store last night. Mr. Freeman did not close his store until near 12 o'clock at which time he noticed his loss.

N. Y. Longshoremen Strike in Protest Against Action of Baltic's Crew in Allowing Seizure of Mannix

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Longshoremen stopped work on four White Star liners here today in protest against the action of the Baltic's crew in allowing British authorities to take Archbishop Mannix, pro-Irish prelate from the ship on her last trip to England. This report was telephoned to police headquarters by officials of the line, who asked that reserves be rushed to the piers.

From the White Star line Irish sympathizers marched to the Cunard line piers where they pulled out other longshoremen. Then they started for the docks of the Anchor Line.

Lowell people who have been hoping that there would be a cut in the price of commodities are not likely to have their hopes realized. This is the consensus of opinion among leading retail merchants who make it their business to keep in close touch with conditions as they affect the different lines of trade in which they are interested.

Taking the retail stores as a whole, it may be said that the business transacted during the summer has been fully equal in volume and in the resulting profits to that of a year ago. Some merchants, indeed, say that prosperity has smiled more broadly upon them than it did 12 months ago.

Insofar as the department stores are concerned it is reported that there have been no signs of a reduction in prices. Continued to Page 12

LOWELL'S ICE SUPPLY ADEQUATE

There is an adequate supply of ice to sight to carry Lowell people through the rest of the warm weather season, it was stated by Miss Martina A. Gage, head of the Gage Ice company, this morning. No price increase is in prospect. The company is now drawing its supply largely from its own houses at South Chelmsford. To make up for the loss of ice in a fire that destroyed the storage sheds of the Gage company at Forge village a quantity of ice is being purchased at North Chelmsford and being shipped into the city over the railroad.

G. O. P. Chairman Declares Cox and Roosevelt "Dream in Millions"

"The Mask is Off—Cox Has Rendered Distinct Service to Country," Says White

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—WILL H. HAYS, chairman of the republican national committee, replying to the speech of Governor Cox in Pittsburgh last night, in which the democratic presidential nominee sought to prove that republicans were conspiring to buy the presidency, declared that Mr. Cox, had such "intimate knowledge of the wasting of millions in aircraft production" during the war, that he "dreamed in millions."

After studying Mr. Cox's speech, Mr. Hays issued the following statement at republican headquarters:

"Of course, Candidate Cox has failed to prove and will fail to prove his case."

TREMENDOUS RECEPTION FOR GEN. EDWARDS

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 27.—A tremendous reception was accorded Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the 26th division, on his arrival in the municipal auditorium, where the Massachusetts department of the American Legion opened its second annual convention today.

As the general entered the hall a whirlwind of applause broke out that lasted several minutes while he spoke at attention. The veterans recognized him.

"Soviet Napoleon" as Commander-in-Chief Removed for Failure to Take Warsaw

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press)—The foreign ministry announced today that France had counselled Poland to attain the best strategical military position possible until peace is signed, regardless of her ethnographical frontier, because the military situation will influence the peace terms.

France has advised Poland, however, to withdraw her armies within the Polish frontier upon the signing of peace, the foreign office added.

Eighty thousand Russian soldiers have been captured in Poland, 40,000 killed and 30,000 interned in East Prussia, according to the latest report received from the French mission in Poland.

PLATE WINDOW BROKEN

A large plate glass window in Snyder's hat store at the corner of Central and Prescott streets was broken last night in some unknown manner. When the clerks of the store came to work this morning they found the window cracked. The night policeman on that beat knew nothing of the affair. It is thought that a stone either thrown by somebody or snapped from beneath the tire of an auto running on Central street struck the window.

Act to Recover $50,000 Alleged to Have Been Paid to Daniels to Settle Suit

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—The receivers in bankruptcy of Charles Ponzi, who skyrocketed into fame as an alleged maker of millions in international postal reply coupons, took legal steps today to add to his assets the sum of $50,000 which he is alleged to have paid Joseph Daniels in settlement of a suit by Daniels to establish a partnership interest in Ponzi's Securities Exchange Co. Daniels in his suit alleged that he loaned Ponzi the few hundred dollars which started the get-rich-quick operator in business.

The receiver's action is in the form of a bill in equity to have Daniels ordered by the court to turn over to the receivers the money he had from Ponzi. They allege that at the time the settlement was made Ponzi was insolvent and that the settlement was fraudulent and intended to defraud other creditors.

MacSweeney's 15th Day of Hunger Strike—May Live Another Week

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Terence MacSweeney, lord mayor of Cork, today began the 15th day of his hunger strike in much the same condition as yesterday. He was weak this morning, but was conscious and able to speak a little.

It was said Mayor MacSweeney might live another week, if his lungs have not been attacked as a result of a previous illness.

B. & A. R. R. Men Get Increase

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The United States railway labor board handed down its first short line wage decision granting employees of Bangor & Aroostook railroad, in Maine, the same wage scale now fixed for the big railroads in the $600,000,000 wage increase. Like other wage decisions of the board, it is retroactive to May 1. Members of 14 unions are affected. The board did not estimate what yearly increase would total.

2100 Share in Increase
BANGOR, Me., August 27.—Twenty-one hundred employees of the Bangor and Aroostook railroad will receive pro rata shares of a wage increase of between $600,000 and $700,000 annually, as a result of the United States Railway Labor board's decision today, granting employees of the road the same wage scale fixed for the big roads in the $600,000,000 increase.

President P. R. Todd said to the Associated Press today: "The only reason why the Bangor & Aroostook asked and received a hearing for the road was that the road was under federal control, will make a total increase of about 2100 persons and this amounting to between $600,000 and $700,000 per annum, together with the increase in wages which were under control, will make a total increase of about $1,500,000 per annum, whereas the cost of living to its employees in Maine is not so great to them as in the large cities like Chicago and New York; and furthermore, because January 1, 1915, amounts to an increase of 120 per cent."

My Tot Journeys Alone Six Thousand Miles To See Mother

EDITH REEVES, ONLY 3, IN THE ARMS OF HER MOTHER. AFTER THE 6,000 MILE JOURNEY SHE TRAVELLED ALONE, FROM SIDNEY TO SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—The thought of her mother waiting at the end of a journey of 6,000 miles kept little Edith Reeves from crying, when she set out alone at the age of 5 on the long, long journey.

Edith was only 11 months old and convalescing in a hospital when her mother, Mrs. E. Reeves, had to leave her in Sidney and come to San Francisco. That was four years ago. When she arrived in San Francisco on the big steamer her mother was at the dock, and although she had grown from an infant into a little lady, mother-love pointed her out to Mrs. Reeves and she recognized her at once among the throng of trans-Pacific travellers on deck. Her mother swears she'll never leave her side again.

WOULD GIVE FREE LEGAL ADVICE TO THE POOR

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Establishment of legal aid bureaus throughout the United States to give free legal advice to the poor, was recommended as a means of checking the spread of radicalism by speakers today at the convention of the American Bar association in session here. The association was asked to assist in every way to encourage the establishment of such bureaus, especially in the larger cities. Among the speakers were Charles Evans Hughes, Reginald H. Smith of Boston, and Ernest L. Tustin, director of public works, Philadelphia.

"There is no more serious menace," Mr. Hughes declared, "than the discontent which is fostered by a belief that one cannot enforce his legal rights because of poverty. To spread that notion, is to open a broad road to Bolshevism."

"The poor man must have legal advice and except in the simplest matters, he needs skilled assistance to present the merits of his case. Simplification of court procedure and the multiplication of tribunals with special functions, are not enough."

"Without opportunity on the part of the poor to secure such aid, it is idle to talk of equality before the law. You may provide the machinery of courts, but to a very limited class of cases where a judge may act as advisor, you must have the aid of lawyers. The legal aid society is the poor man's lawyer and gives him the essential assistance he cannot obtain elsewhere."

The Legal Aid society of New York, Mr. Hughes said, gave advice to 31,000 applicants last year. Had it not been for the bureau, he said, the majority of the persons probably would have gone without proper legal counsel. Mr. Hughes urged that free legal advice be given the poor in criminal as well as civil cases.

Mr. Smith said that simplified court procedure would obviate the necessity for legal counsel in certain cases, but where the services of a lawyer were demanded, they should be available, irrespective of the financial standing of the client.

"If men because of poverty cannot obtain counsel, the machinery of justice becomes unworkable and that in turn means that rights are lost and wrongs go unredressed," he asserted.

"When persons are thus debarrd from their day in court, they are as effectively stripped of their only protection as if they had been outlawed."

"No democracy can tolerate such a condition in its most essential institution, nor can it safely incur the dangerous sense of injustice, bitterness and unrest which it inevitably engenders."

"Immigration in the future will come largely from eastern European countries and the opportunity for imposition and unlawful practices will be much increased."

Among the reports presented today was one recommending that the period between the election and inauguration of the president of the United States be shortened. It declared the period too long and that it is "liable to leave the administration in hands which have been discredited by a popular vote of want of confidence and that such a situation greatly weakens the prestige of the government, both at home and abroad."

Wall Paper Talks

Oatmeal, as a name, has been very much abused when applied to Wall Paper. When oatmeal first came on the market they were all good. Today there are no less than six different grades, some good and some not so good. There are but two factories in this country with any large output of Oatmeal Paper. At these factories are made under various specifications the different grades for the various Wall Paper factories who after receiving them reel them into three roll bolts and put their own wrappers on them.

Known to their Wall Paper trade and admitted by them to be absolutely the best on the market is an oatmeal made under a special formula by Becker, Smith and Page.

Knowing that our trade demanded the best, we bought B. S. & P.'s oatmeal. They are the only oatmeal we can buy today, the surface of which will not rub off when brushed. The colorings are cleaner and run more even than others and like all good oatmeal, they are fast color.

Put up in five yard rolls—three rolls in one piece. Thirty inches wide. Fourteen colors to select from, with a large assortment of cut-out borders and binders for each color.

While oatmeal have been on the market for years they are still very popular. And justly so, for they are the most economical wall covering at any price.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Paper.

KANSAS STATE OF AB-
SENTEE TENANTS

BY MABEL ABBOTT
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 27.—Kansas is becoming a state of absentee landlords and tenant farmers.

"This," says Gov. Henry J. Allen, "is the greatest menace to the fundamental growth of the state."

Gov. Allen has figures to show that for years farm tenantry has been on the increase in Kansas.

Instead of being tilled by men who own them and whose interests are in conserving their fertility and building up the roads, schools and homes, more and more farms are being rented.

The leases run, in most cases, for one year, and the tenant's interest is in getting all he can out of the land in that time.

Figures for 1920 show, for example, that 57.4 per cent of the farms in Scott county are operated by tenants—an increase of 38.1 per cent in 10 years.

Gov. Allen is urging adoption of the farm homestead amendment, which came before the voters in November.

This amendment will permit the legislature to establish a fund to advance money to worthy farmers at small interest and on long time, with which to buy farms to live on and operate, and to irrigate and reclaim tracts of dry land and divide them into farms to be sold on the installment plan to men who will agree to live on them and work them.

FRECKLE-FACE

Don and Wild Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine—as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

THOUSANDS FORCED TO SLEEP ON SANDS

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Never has there been such an exodus from the large cities of England to seaside and villages for the vacation period as this year. Railroads and coastwise steamship companies have been unable to cope with the traffic and lack of housing facilities at the more popular resorts have forced thousands to sleep on the sands until they can arrange to get back home.

August, partly because of custom and partly because this month is the warmest of the cool English summer, is the great holiday time of the country.

This year the government decided to raise railroad fares to 75 per cent above the pre-war level in order to recoup some of the losses incurred in operation by the government. This increase was made in face of a solid press campaign against it and was announced to become effective August 6.

Consequently thousands who had planned their vacations later changed their plans to avoid the fare increase. The decision to go early came too late to arrange for accommodations at resorts and thousands left home with the idea of taking a chance on getting rooms. The result was congestion everywhere.

At some of the London stations people waited 7 hours to catch trains. Trains to Brighton were heavily loaded long before the hour of departure. At Liverpool they took positions Friday night to obtain places on the boats Saturday to the popular Isle of Man. The boats were loaded as rapidly as they could be docked but thousands were left behind when Saturday night came. People on the wharves were admonished by officials not to go unless they had accommodations on the island. Few heeded it, however, and that night the beaches were almost covered with persons unable to get shelter or unable to pay the high prices resulting from the influx.

Thousands went to resorts by motor car—buses which have become very popular this summer because of high rail fares and inconvenience of crowded trains.

It is a custom in England for many people of the less influential classes to marry on "bank holiday," the first Monday in August. They take their fortnight vacation for the honeymoon. At one village two hours before a train left for a popular near-by resort 20 couples were lined up in front of the village church waiting for the parson to do his duty.

RIOTING CONTINUES IN BELFAST, IRELAND

BELFAST, Aug. 27.—(By Associated Press).—Serious rioting broke out in Belfast last night, during which there was considerable shooting and some incendiarism.

A number of wounded persons were taken to hospitals.

Last night's rioting began in the Falls district of West Belfast, the scene of the deadliest fighting in the July disturbances.

It started with revolver firing near the Kashmir road of evil memories. Albert street, in the Falls area, situated in the populous mill locality mainly inhabited by nationalists, became the new storm center.

During the trouble an armored car appeared and fired on the rioters, a number of whom were taken to hospitals suffering from machine-gun wounds.

Crowds of shipyard workers appeared and fired on the rioters, a number of whom were taken to hospitals suffering from machine-gun wounds.

Crowds of shipyard workers appeared from the side streets, waving union flags.

The military was heartily cheered, as was a section of the fire brigade which was summoned for an incendiary fire at the foot of Seaford street. A few minutes after the fire started the whole block of buildings was a seething mass of flames. There was much looting.

"Belfast could be no worse." This was the description given by high police officials of the conditions in Belfast last night.

At 6 o'clock the riots had extended to Grosvenor road, a long thoroughfare running from the heart of the city to the Falls, where two spirit stores were looted. The military was obliged to disperse the rioters.

Rioting of the fiercest nature began at the city end of Ballymacarrett about 6 o'clock last evening in Vulcan street and immediate vicinity. Many were injured among the rival factions. Later the trouble extended to Newton Yards, 13 miles from Belfast, involving the shipyard workers. Fierce rioting occurred this afternoon and the military fired on a crowd.

This afternoon's rioting occurred in Clonallan street, East Belfast.

When the military fired volleys at the crowd a number of persons were seen to fall. The fire brigade was caught between hostile stone-throwing mobs and had to return to its station.

Rioting was renewed this noon in Wolf and Foundry streets. The police quelled the outbreak.

During Wednesday night's rioting the casualties were reported as one

The fire brigade reported 23 incendiary fires in the 12 hours ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Thirty-nine persons were arrested for rioting and kindred offenses.

The rioting originated in a report that nationalists yesterday stoned children leaving the Comber street national school at Ballymacarrett, a Belfast suburb.

Robert Caldwell, principal of the school, denied that the pupils were attacked, but there was no doubt that the report was believed by both sides and that it acted like matches to tinder.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE OF MAINE DEAD

ELLSWORTH, Me., Aug. 27.—Lucius Elton Emery, former chief justice of the Maine supreme court and long in public life, died last night at his summer home at Hancock Point. He was in his 81st year.

He was born in Carmel near Bangor, July 27, 1840, attended Hampden Academy and graduated from Bowdoin college in 1861. He studied law with the late A. W. Paine of Bangor and was admitted to the bar in 1863, opening an office in this city, where he made his home the rest of his life.

He was elected county attorney in 1866. Before the expiration of his term in 1868 he was invited by Eugene Hale, then entering on his congressional career, to become his partner. This partnership lasted 15 years, being dissolved only by Judge Emery being appointed to the bench.

Judge Emery was a member of the Maine senate in 1874-5, and in 1876 was elected attorney general, serving three years. He was again elected to the senate in 1889. In 1893 he was appointed to the supreme bench by Gov. Frederick Robie, and served 28 years, resigning in 1911. He was appointed chief justice in 1906 by Gov. Cobb, after the death of Chief Justice Wiswell.

He was for three years lecturer on medical jurisprudence at Bowdoin Medical school, had served as overseer and was a member of the board of trustees of Bowdoin college at the time of his death. He was lecturer on Roman law at the University of Maine.

He is survived by a son and daughter, Prof. Harry C. Emery, formerly of Yale, now a banker at Pekin, China; and Mrs. Annie Crosby Allison, wife of Prof. F. L. Allison of Brown University. A sister lives in Alabama.

Funeral services will be held here, the date to be announced later.

WOULD CHANGE DATE
OF INAUGURATION

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—The long period between the election of the president of the United States and his inauguration is "a serious evil fraught with much danger," according to the report of the special committee on the change in date of the presidential inauguration, presented today to the convention of the American Bar association, in session here.

The report recommends that the period be shortened, and that the short term of the old congress be eliminated. It, however, does not suggest any other date for the inauguration, explaining that March 4 has been recognized by constitutional amendment as the date of inaugural, it adds.

"The committee, however, is of the opinion that it is the duty of this association representing the great body of lawyers of the country to call the attention of congress to those provisions of the law and of the constitution which are fraught with serious danger and which are liable to bring humiliation and disaster to the republic."

It states that the period between election and inauguration is "liable to leave the administration in hands which have been discredited by a popular vote of want of confidence and that such a situation greatly weakens the prestige of the government both at home and abroad."

"The three months' session of the old congress occurring after a new congress has been elected is also most unsatisfactory and serves as an opportunity for partisan activity of the worst kind."

COX GIVES FUND "PROOF"

Declares Republicans Raising
$15,000,000—Shows List
Giving Quotas for 51 Cities

Boston's Quota $300,000,
Lowell's $25,000—Reads
From G. O. P. Bulletin

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—Information to support his charges that a republican campaign fund exceeding $15,000,000 was being raised "in a conspiracy to buy the presidency," was presented by Gov. Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, in addressing a public meeting here last night.

Gov. Cox's data consisted almost entirely of matter taken from the official bulletin of Fred W. Upham of Chicago, treasurer of the republican national committee, but his chief exhibit was a typewritten list purporting to show republican campaign quotas imposed on 51 principal cities in 27 states and aggregating $5,145,000.

Names of local subscribers, Gov. Cox said, were ordered kept secret. These quotas, given as $2,000,000 for New York city, $750,000 for Chicago, $500,000 for Philadelphia, and ranging down to $25,000 for smaller cities, like Albany, N. Y., Lowell, Mass., and Atlanta, Ga., were said by Gov. Cox to have been announced about the middle of July.

That Senator Harding, his republican opponent, "was acquainted with the details" of the quota plan and that it was also approved by Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, was charged by the democratic candidate.

From subsequent issues of the Official Bulletin, Gov. Cox quoted many reports from republican workers throughout the country, reporting going "over the top" and in excess of the alleged quotas.

Big Metropolitan Quotas

Announcement of the $5,145,000 metropolitan quotas, Gov. Cox said, was made by Harry M. Blair, assistant to Treasurer Upham. A meeting was held in Chicago, Gov. Cox said, at which Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, "spoke his blessings."

The governor charged that typewritten sheets bearing the 51 cities' quotas were "distributed to those assembled, and he produced one of the alleged quota lists, but did not state how or where it was acquired. The quota plan, he said, was carried out like that of the Liberty loan campaign.

That the reputed attempt to raise $5,145,000 from 51 cities in 27 of the 48 states is fair evidence that the total national fund will be much larger, was declared by Gov. Cox, who said big business men were prominent on the republican ways and means committee and that the raising of funds was on a business "salesmanship" basis.

Gov. Cox also quoted from statements in the republican bulletin that state and county organizations were not to be "disturbed or retarded in their activities."

Calling attention to Chairman Hays' statement that $5,000,000 was being raised, Gov. Cox said that yesterday's papers carried a statement from Treasurer Upham that the republican total would be about $7,500,000.

"From the evidence which we shall submit," Gov. Cox added, "I think you will agree that we are justified in multiplying Mr. Upham's figures by two."

Gov. Cox, standing staunchly by his charges that an attempt to purchase the presidency was being made, declared that "the senatorial oligarchy and their friends are harking back to the days of Mark Hanna," stating that in the 1896 campaign, which Mr. Hanna managed, $16,500,000 was spent.

"It was this foul thing," said Gov. Cox, "which Theodore Roosevelt brought to an end when he reformed the republican party. When he was

"The names and amounts subscribed by local donors should not be made public locally."

"I hereby give it wide and non-exclusive publicity," Governor Cox continued. "But why was the publication to be the only organ of the secret society? Why were the names of local contributors not to be made known? Was it because each contribution would carry its own meaning to the voters in the local communities? Or if secrecy were guaranteed in the communities were Mr. Hays and Mr. Upham to do the same thing in submitting their returns on box office receipts? Certainly there is some reason. What is it? The public is entitled to know. If Mr. Hays and Mr. Upham do not come forward with the information the republican national committee ought to remove them both and insist upon a clean bill of health. Furthermore, there should be some explanation of this being made purely a business affair, participated in by business men and business men only. Unexplained, it carries its own condemnation and exposes the purpose of the whole shameful business. It means that the quota is to be assessed against those who are to benefit and that the captains of industry who have answered Mr. Hays' roll call are sub-

RED PILLS

Bring Strength to Pale and Weak Women

For a long time I had kept on working, although I was a very sick woman, but I finally had to give in and was compelled to remain in bed, for I became dizzy every time I tried to stand up. One day, while scanning the advertisements in our local newspaper something prompted me to try the RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. I was always cold and I therefore concluded that those pills which were so highly recommended for purifying and increasing the blood would be appropriate to my particular case. At the second box I began to gradually get better, and then from day to day my health improved, my pains in the sides soon disappeared, my blood circulated more freely and became normal, and after taking twenty boxes I was strong and well and fleshy and have remained so ever since, even though I still work very hard.—Mrs. Melina Fraser, 1405 Elm Street, Manchester, N.H.

Above all other things, RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are a tonic and aim directly and in a particular manner towards the cause of all organic troubles: anaemia or poverty of blood.

RED PILLS make good rich blood out of poor blood; they restore strength, courage and give a consciousness of buoyant health, as melancholy and sadness soon fade away when one enjoys perfect health. Women whose lives have been made miserable by ill-health and suffering, have a brighter outlook on life when they have been restored to good health by RED PILLS.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are known by thousands as being the best tonic ever, as they may be taken by women at all ages, even by those with the most delicate constitutions.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Fraser Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

Change of life, that critical epoch in the life of a woman, made its appearance accompanied by the various ailments it usually brings along, such as dizziness, hot flashes, chills, backaches, weakness, etc. I became frightened and terrified, as my future health seemed very hopeless. I was further convinced of this by the fact that I had tried different kinds of medicine, but with no avail, as I still remained in the same condition. I then tried RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, and was astonished and at the same time delighted to feel myself getting stronger and well every day. I am now most anxious to pass on this information, so that other women may be helped as I have been.—Mrs. Hilare Robert, 20 Dutton Street, Lowell, Mass.

MAGNESIA FINE FOR DYSPEPTICS

Neutralize Dangerous Stomach Acids Which Cause Indigestion

The almost universal use of Magnesia by physicians and stomach specialists is due to the fact that it instantly neutralizes the dangerous stomach acids which cause nearly all digestive stomach trouble. With acid gone and stomach sweet, easy and painless digestion invariably follows. Old dyspeptics, when indigestion and sour, weak and sickly stomach, have made miserable for years, find quick and lasting relief in this simple remedy, and are again able to eat what they please. A glass of hot Magnesia water after meals prevents all trouble. Prepare Magnesia water at home by dropping one teaspoonful or four tablets of pure Bismarck Magnesia in a glass of hot water. Any reliable druggist can tell you the genuine Bismarck Magnesia and stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepper, charcoal, soda, minis, drugs and stomach medicines will soon find that the stomach, relieved of irritating acid and gas, soon resumes its normal tone, and will do its work alone without the aid of artificial stimulants.—Adv.

Continued

Senator Harding, the republican nominee, in the Official Bulletin of Aug. 5, Governor Cox said that Senator Harding expressed his gratitude for "the enthusiasm shown" in raising the campaign fund.

"That Mr. Harding is acquainted even with the details of the enterprise is evidenced by a subsequent passage," said Governor Cox, "which is as follows:

"Through the fine work of your organization we are hearing that form of political patriotism which expresses itself in support from every county, every state. Therefore, I want all members of your organization to feel that their efforts are essential to our success in planning for national enlightenment and deeply appreciated by me." Governor Cox said he depended "wholly for the purpose of making proof of his charges," upon official documents which came from republican headquarters. He did not plan to send his data to the senate campaign investigation committee, stating privately that the committee could get its information from his address.

Besides his statement on republican finances, which he prepared with great care yesterday, on the train en route from Evansville, Ind., and while he read to his audience last night, the democratic candidate also discussed the League of Nations and industrial problems, urging settlement of strikes without the bayonet.

"The 'normalcy' as voiced by their candidate as visioned by his masters," said Governor Cox, in this connection, referring to Senator Harding, "is bayonets at the factory door, unrestrained profiteering at the gates of the farms, the burden of government on shoulders other than their own and the federal reserve system an annex to big business. When the American people fully grasp the sinister menace hanging over them they will shun it as a plague."

Returning to the campaign fund

question Governor Cox rounded his audience in order, he said, to reach a proper understanding, that recent contribution of large sums by business interests began in the case of Senator Newberry of Michigan.

His present charges, the governor declared, of a fund "so stupendous as to exceed the realm of legitimate expense means but one thing: imminent danger of an odious and corrupt campaign."

Merilla Newberry Case

Senator Newberry, the candidate convicted, "was convicted in a republican state and community, before a republican judge, grand and petit jurors." The Newberry charges, Governor Cox noted, also were denied.

"One would have thought," said the speaker, "that this experience would have had its restraining influence on subsequent events, but the resolve of certain interests to take over the affairs of our government amounts apparently to a mania. Unaffected by the Newberry episode, money was spent after it had been collected from business interests in the pre-convention campaign in such sums that the whole country was shocked by the scandal. Millions of dollars admittedly were expended in behalf of its candidates."

"The Newberry affair and the preliminaries to the national convention are now admitted public facts. They are recounted as first symptoms of an infectious contagion that continues. Judging the future by the past the people themselves must bring it to an end. Nothing apparently except the stiff shock of expressed public condemnation at the polls will be effective. "The Newberry lesson went unheeded by the interest behind presidential candidates in the spring and early summer of 1920, and the admonition which the multiplied circumstances of the very recent past would ordinarily carry to the normal mind is insufficient to stay the hand of greed, of conspiracy and corruption which it is now my duty to expose."

Governor Cox recalled how the republican ways and means committee was organized last December, and its work, he said, was "vigorously pushed from the very first." Its local chairman, he said, "were business men, in most instances very wealthy men." In this connection he quoted from a letter of John Kirby, Jr., chairman of the Dayton, Ohio, committee, of Feb. 7 last, stating, "This is a purely business men's movement."

Commercial Enthusiasm

"It took on the impetus of a commercial enthusiasm," Governor Cox continued. "The philosophy running through all the literature is emphasized by the recurrent terms of salesmanship. The plan was not only to organize every state, but every county in the United States. Definite quotas were established in precisely the same manner as the Liberty loan campaigns were conducted, population and bank deposits apparently being the base of calculations. In addition to the local chairmen, state managers were engaged, travelling representatives operated between them and the community organizations; salaries running as high as five hundred dollars a week and expenses have been paid in order to create and maintain enthusiasm and morale. An official document was published, intended, as it later will be shown, for the eyes exclusively of the men and corporations who are a part of the movement."

Governor Cox quoted at length from many issues of the Upham "Bulletin." The first issue of July 17, the candidate said, contained this sentence:

Experience Necessary

"Nobody is going to have anything to do with this bulletin who has not had actual experience in digging up money in the field."

A statement by Mr. Upham said that Senator Harding's election was the "job" and involved "the simplest principles of salesmanship, knowledge in our goods, faith in our goods, tact and energy in presenting our goods," Governor Cox declared.

Describing the fund managers as "money diggers," Governor Cox said

Mr. Upham's assistants were Harry M. Blair, Edwin L. Quarles, assistant to Mr. Blair; C. W. Lee, eastern division director; Henry E. Owen, central division director; Charles A. McKeand, western director, and E. G. Fitzgerald, office manager.

Governor Cox read a bulletin statement by Mr. Blair that the efforts for funds for 41 states would be directed from main headquarters.

At this point Governor Cox presented the list of 51 large cities and he said, the allotment would be 31 cents per capita for each man, woman and child of their 25,500,000 population.

Contrary to an intention announced previously, Governor Cox added that he "intended to pass this evidence" to the senate investigating committee.

Big Quota From Ohio

"The sum of $5,145,000 is to come, not from 27 states, but from the largest cities in 27 states," said the governor. "New York state is represented by only six places, New York City, Buffalo, Rochester and Albany and yet Franklin D. Roosevelt announces that the county of Dutchess a suburban and rural community, was assessed $22,000. But let us see whether the quotas placed upon the larger cities were exceeded. Again we come for proof to the Official Bulletin, which, under date of August 10, says: Boston, Mass., had a 90 per cent. attendance at an organization meeting on August 4. This is an excellent record for a hot day. Real interest was aroused, Senator Weeks inspired them with an understanding of the situation and they agreed to produce."

"That they did produce is proved by the Bulletin of August 10, 1920 when telegrams received that day were published. Among others we see the following: Metropolitan Boston will contribute more than 250 per cent. of its original quota, which would turn the Boston fund from $300,000 to $750,000."

Cities Over-subscribe

"The Columbus, Ohio, quota is $100,000, and yet in the Bulletin of August 10 a telegram from Columbus is inserted, carrying these reassuring words: Then, too, the end is not yet, for it is probable the sum of $150,000 for the state and national treasury will stand to the credit of Columbus before the first day of September. Then a little color was given to the story. Proud of achievements, Henry E. Owen, the division director, who sent the telegram, evidenced his pride in how things were going by submitting details as to just how it was accomplished. Mr. Owen said: This is how it was done: Two busy men gave two hours a day for 10 consecutive days in interviewing and soliciting, and they turned the trick. That was intended as a hint to the 'money diggers' is shown by the paragraph in Mr. Owen's telegram, which says: Every state director, every city director, can do like Kelly did; get the right man to see the right people. Do it quickly and systematically."

Eight Millions Not Limit

"That the $8,000,000 fund is not to be the final total in the country at large has already been clearly proved by the statement by Mr. Blair himself. Further information is supplied by official republican documents. For instance, the Bulletin under date of August 5, announces: 'The following cities in Tennessee are all organized for the production of their quotas: Chattanooga, Nashville, Memphis and Knoxville. Only one of these cities is in the $5,000,000 list—Memphis is assigned $25,000. The Bulletin of August 16 announces 'Chattanooga, over-subscribed its quota this week. The balance of the Tennessee cities are being carefully canvassed.'

"Not a city in Arkansas is listed in the $5,000,000 class. Only one city in Georgia—Atlanta. Not a single city in North Carolina, and yet David H. Blair wired the Bulletin as follows: 'Why not urge the rest of the United States to emulate the example of Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia and North Carolina, which are all over the top? North Carolina went over on the 27th of July and the end is not yet.'

"In the state of Michigan only one city, Detroit, is put in the $5,000,000 class, and yet the Bulletin, under date of August 10, says that: 'Flint, Mich., business men decided to make their campaign short and snappy and finish by August 15. Grand Rapids, Mich., committee of large business men working enthusiastically to bring campaign to speedy conclusion. The Bulletin of August 16 says: Campaign in Pontiac, Saginaw, Alma, Bay City, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven started during the past week. Forty counties in Michigan now campaigning.'

was the climax of a day of trial heats in swimming and diving in which Americans qualified prominently. Four of the entrants from the United States won their way to the finals in the men's 400 metre free style swimming, two qualified in the 200 metre breast stroke and three went into the semi-finals of the spring board diving trials.

Besides Miss Bleibtrey, Margaret Woodbridge, Detroit, A. C., and Eleanor Uhl of Philadelphia won their respective heats in the 200 metre free stroke and Francis Crowell Schroth of San Francisco, captured a second place.

In the men's 400 metre free stroke, F. K. Kaele, U.S.N., and Lady Langer Honolulu, qualified in the fourth and fifth heats, which were won by the Canadian, Vernon, and Langer, respectively.

CAR LINES FACE CRISIS

Connecticut Road May Be Forced to Suspend—Increase in Fares Asked

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 27.—Trolley operations in Connecticut are approaching a crisis, in the opinion of officers who manage them, and suspension of service in many cities is threatened if jitneys are not restricted. A 10-cent flat fare is to be asked of the public utilities commission, according to Morgan B. Brainard, a federal trustee of the company.

Cornelius O'Brien, arrested by Officer Castles and charged with riding a bicycle on a sidewalk of the North common was fined $2. The officer testified that he had received complaints about bicycle riding on the walks and that when O'Brien was arrested there were many pedestrians on the common.

Dela Peabody pleaded guilty to drunkenness, but was held with no finding for sentence next Friday. She was arrested by Officers Joseph A. Clark and Owen Conway after complaints were made at the police station.

Because of the absence of witnesses, the session of juvenile court this morning was very brief, the majority of the cases being continued. Three of those called involved delinquent children and another juvenile, charged with breaking and entering on the property of the Boston & Maine railroad, was put over under bail until Sept. 2.

store. The receivers claim that Daniels gave no valid consideration for the transfer, and that the purposes of Ponzi in making the settlement, were known to and connived at by Daniels, who acted and still acts as a mere agent of Ponzi, in receiving and retaining the money paid him.

It is further alleged that Daniels is the owner of a large block of shares in the Daniels & Wilson Furniture Co., and if he fails to return to the receivers the money paid him by Ponzi they ask that the court order the sale of his stock and apply the proceeds in settlement of their claim against him. Judge Sisk issued a temporary injunction against Daniels, and an order of notice was made returnable on Sept. 2.

The receivers today formally seized the expensive home of Ponzi in Lexington, and the several automobiles which he bought in his days of affluence. The wife and mother of the imprisoned promoter were allowed to continue their residence there and it is understood they will not be disturbed until the estate is settled.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Norman P. Mison of Plattsburg, N. Y., and Miss Helen C. Proctor, daughter of Mrs. William P. Proctor of Dunstable, were married Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Burke F. Leavitt of Boston. The bridesmaids were four college chums of the bride, Miss Helen Dudley of New Haven, Conn., Miss Barbara Miner of Worcester, and Misses Margaret Owen and Helen Sawyer, both of Concord, N. H. The best man was Mr. Frank S. Gordon of New York. Following the ceremony a reception was held and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to the shore of Lake Champlain. After Oct. 1 they will be at home to their friends at 74 Oak Street, Plattsburg.

that republicans were raising a $150,000 fund to "buy" the presidency. Then, just before his train pulled out, he received newspaper men.

Asked if he would press his charges further, Mr. Cox replied:

"Yes, You will have new leads in a week, I think."

Referring to an announcement from Will H. Hayes, chairman of the republican national committee that individual campaign contributions would be restricted to $2000, Mr. Cox said:

"Mr. Hayes knows that such a statement isn't true. The methods used by the republicans are to get some big fellow to give $20,000 or $25,000, after which 19 or 24 dummy names are written down as contributors on the party's books. No one needs to worry about my not naming the sources of the funds which I have accused the republicans of raising."

Mr. Cox said that if the senate committee investigating campaign funds really wished him to appear before it in Chicago, he would do so.

"The committee," he added, "now has the necessary leads. If it wishes to investigate, it will call in republican state leaders and learn from them who the county and city leaders are and thus get all the details. I have every confidence that the committee will go to the bottom of my charges."

"A year ago I said that the republicans were going back to the methods of Mark Hanna and that they would be defeated with their own money. This still is my belief."

When Governor Cox was asked about reports concerning democratic national finance of a year ago, he said:

"I came on board the democratic ship July 7. I know nothing about what happened before that time."

"One thing I can tell you, though, is that I found a deficit but no money."

Representative August Lonnergan of Connecticut was one of the democratic leaders who accompanied Governor Cox when his train pulled out at 11.45.

JUDGE LINDSEY TALKS

URGE UNIFORM RULES

FOR FEDERAL COURTS

Urges Extension of Juvenile Court Procedure Before Bar Association

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 27.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Denver juvenile court, addressed the American Bar association here today on obtaining "justice for parent and child without cost." He urged the extension of juvenile court procedure such as has been authorized in Colorado. He said: "I plead for a specialized institution in every large city, operating principally under the powers of civil and chancery courts in co-operation with various agencies, to handle, not only the problems of the parent and child, but a class of adults—mostly poor people—who might be treated very much as we treat children. In our work for a surer, simpler and less expensive justice for parent and child we have found many justifications for such a tribunal."

"While such a specialized institution must be based primarily in the chancery procedure, it may also be aided by the addition of a limited criminal procedure. This is precisely what we have done in a measure in my own experience. For while the court over which I have presided in my own city of Denver, for 10 years, is known as a place of dealing with lawless children, the problems of dependency, domestic or family relations in controversies not only between parents, but adults concerning their relations to children, have for 10 years occupied the largest part of its work."

"In practice in these cases there are absolutely no costs no matter what the controversy may be. The methods are the usual ones of these courts, by an informal conference about the table in a sort of clinic of human adjustment."

"One of the great difficulties of the criminal law is that we deal merely with the things that people do—not the people. We expect the same rule of penalty to fit every case. Instead of producing so-called equal and exact justice, it often produces just the contrary results. There are many cases of conduct or acts of individuals that might be defined as crime that can be handled much better in a chancery procedure to do justice than in a criminal procedure to impose punishment."

"We have in Colorado as to certain crimes extended a chancery procedure to adults. It is the first state so far as I know to make such an innovation."

"One secret of the success of these informal courts, to my mind, is the fact that in the very great majority of these cases, the whole purpose is to understand the people—to help them and not to hurt them and by kindly appeal to point out the mistakes of all and the good in all."

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Prompt enactment of the bill submitted to the last session of congress to empower the United States supreme court to make uniform rules for federal district courts designed to simplify procedure in such courts and promote the speedy determination of litigation on the merits of cases, was recommended in the report of the committee on uniform judicial procedure, submitted last night to the American Bar association, in convention here.

The report declared the regulations to be made by the supreme court under the bill should "embrace all the merits and none of the vices of both the 'common law' and 'code' pleading."

Enactment of the bill, the report continued, would result in promulgation by the supreme court of a "simple, scientific and correlated system of rules, which will prove an attractive model for the states to adopt for their courts." According to the report, the bill would lay the "foundation for fixed interstate judicial relations as permanent and correlated as interstate commercial relations."

The committee on admiralty and maritime law, in its report also submitted last night, recommended that laws for navigation of the air be held in abeyance until airplane traffic becomes more popular.

The report said the committee "did not believe that any body of men are as yet gifted with sufficient foresight to enable them to work out a set of rules of navigation for airplanes."

Preparation of a revised draft of admiralty rules to serve as a basis of consideration by the supreme court has been completed, according to the report.

For Uniform Laws

The drift of law is towards "uncertainty, confusion and variation," according to the report of the committee on reclassification and restatement of the law, submitted at yesterday's session of the convention here of the American Bar association. The committee suggests that a simpler recodification of the laws be effected, and that the laws in the various states be more uniform.

"Our national aspiration," the report asserts, "should be satisfied by nothing short of leadership, not by the power of our financial and industrial resources or our military strength, but by reason of the excellence of our institutions, our laws, and the efficient administration of justice. A certain and uniform system of law for a country so large in area and so divided as to government can be attained only through making plain by visible expression with the greatest attainable certainty, simplicity, completeness and order the great system of law which has been developed but which has been inadequately expressed in this country."

The report emphasizes that a clear understanding of the laws of the several states is particularly essential now because of increasing interstate commerce.

"The possibility for improvement of our law cannot be over estimated," continues the report. "The causes for the confusion and uncertainty of the law and the responsibility for them are matters which are relevant to the means which may be taken to improve the law."

"Of these causes it may be remarked that in a complex and progressive system of law there is a natural tendency (in the absence of counter influences) to confusion and uncertainty and, in a country composed of so many states with a large number of independent courts and with no court of ultimate decision as to a large part of the subjects of litigation, this tendency is increased."

"One of the counter influences is the existence in all the states of identical institutions and the same system of fundamental principles called the common law, but under the conditions which exist the principles of this theoretically identical law have themselves become less certain and definite and more varied and contradictory."

The United States received nearly $3,000,000 in income from grazing on the national domains.

Friends of Czar, One Former Russ General, Lead Lowly and Obscure Life in New York

CONDEMNED TO DEATH BY BOLSHIEVSKI

WORKS AS MECHANIC IN NEW YORK GARAGE

NOW WORKING AS CIVIL ENGINEER

(N.E.A. Staff Special)
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—"I wanted to prove that the claim of the Bolsheviki that men of my class, the great middle class, in Russia, were incompetents, wasters and idlers was false."
This is how George Y. d'Hedberg, one of the best-known mining engineers in Russia and former major general in the czar's army and member of the Grand Duke Nicholas' staff, explains why he worked for weeks as a mechanic in a New York garage when he could have had important engineering positions by revealing his identity.
Consulting Engineer
d'Hedberg, stripped of land and money by the Bolsheviki, is now consulting

ing engineer for a New York bearing factory.
Madame d'Hedberg, who was formerly Baroness Taube, is learning the mysteries of an American kitchen.
d'Hedberg was a wealthy ship-owner and mine operator at Rostov-on-Don. He served as captain in the Russo-Japanese war, and was wounded seven times in hand-to-hand engagements. Emerging as a colonel, d'Hedberg went into the reserve and resumed his technical studies. He developed large coal and other mining properties in Siberia.
Fought in World War
When the world war was declared in 1914, d'Hedberg went into service as an officer of transport. He was attached to Grand Duke Nicholas' staff and served until the revolution and the disintegration of the imperial army.

While on one of the campaigns d'Hedberg obtained a transfer for a sick doctor, attached to his department. That act later saved d'Hedberg's life.
With the collapse of the Kerensky regime and the seizure of power by the Bolsheviki, d'Hedberg was thrown into prison, and his property taken from him. He was condemned to be executed.
On the day before his scheduled death, a Bolsheviki prison doctor came to him.
Doctor Saves Him
"You did me a good turn once," he said. "Now it's my turn."
It was the doctor d'Hedberg had transferred.
With the assistance of the doctor, he was smuggled into a hospital and later went to the Finnish border.
He stayed in Finland while General Fudenchik was in power. There he met Madame d'Hedberg, a refugee.
With a wife, little money, no English and a technical education, d'Hedberg came to America via Sweden to build his life anew.
Now d'Hedberg is starting again to "get up in the world," having graduated already from the garage job to the desk of a civil engineer. "And when I reach the top of my progress in here," he said, "and stand where I once stood in Russia, I will turn to the Bolsheviki and ask them to repeat that the bourgeoisie cannot make a living if left to their own devices."

KASINO PACKED FOR NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT
Eight hundred young people were given an evening of unusual enjoyment at the Kasino last evening. The attraction was "A Night in Tennessee," with "Pork Chop" Jackson as the chief member of the group of entertainers taking part in the performance. Music was furnished by Schell's Boston jazz orchestra. The show was produced under the direction of Walter A. Brown and John P. Broderick was the accompanist. The evening's program was as follows:
Opening overture, "Come Away, Come Away," "Happy Days," "White Wings," "A Little Bit Off the Top," "Old New Hampshire Home," "Oh, Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me," "I'll See You in C-U-B-A," Michael L. Mone; "I Had a Gal, I Had a Pal," Walter A. Brown; "I'm Going to Dance My Way Right Back to Dixie Land," Geo. Merritt; "Daddy, You've Been a Mother to Me," Master Charles O'Brien; "Dardanelle Blues," James Deignan; selections by Emerson four; "When He Gave You Mother O'Mine," Peter Kane; "Greenwich Village Sue," Edward Donohoe; "That Wonderful Kid from Madrid," Josh Chapelle; specialty, "Pork Chop" Jackson; grand finale, entire company.
This year's importation of cut and uncut diamonds is expected to rise to the unprecedented value of $100,000,000.

NEW HEATING PLANT FOR KENWOOD SCHOOL
There is rejoicing among the children and parents of the Kenwood school district over the announcement that a contract has been let for installing new heating apparatus in the school building to the Hobson & Lawlor company of Lowell. The cost is to be $1300.
The old heating system that was installed when the building was erected had proved too small for a building to which a large addition had been made. Therefore, there had been much discomfort and numerous colds for the children during seasons of low temperature. At the last annual town meeting the project of providing the school with proper heating apparatus was taken up, and it was voted that $2000 should be expended for the purpose. When the matter was looked into it was found that this sum would not be sufficient to provide the apparatus that was needed, and at a later special town meeting $2100 was added to the original appropriation.
Two other bids, besides that of the Hobson & Lawlor company were received for supplying the new equipment. These were both from Lowell concerns. They were both turned down because they called for the placing of a foundation for the furnace by the school committee. The Hobson & Lawlor company is to do all the work connected with installing the new apparatus with the exception of such as may require the services of a carpenter.

B. F. KEITH ADDS NEW HOUSES TO STREETS
Lowell patrons of Keith's theatres will be interested to learn that eight new houses have been added to the B. F. Keith vaudeville circuit in Greater New York to open labor day, making a total of 24 Keith enterprises in the metropolitan district.
Inasmuch as the opening of these new houses will allow many acts to play from three to four months in New York without leaving the city, the Keith interests will have a decided appeal to concert, opera and legitimate stars contemplating vaudeville and this will aid in building up a tremendous list of entertainment features upon which every house on the circuit will have an equal claim in making up its programs. Therefore, the patrons of Keith's theatres in Lowell may soon look forward to seeing some of the most noted stars in every line of theatrical endeavor appearing before them.
In addition to opening eight theatres in New York, B. F. Keith, president and chief owner of the Keith circuit, is building or is about to build new theatres in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Indianapolis and Toledo.

FAREWELL TO EDWARDS IN BOSTON TUESDAY

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Boston's demonstration in honor of Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the Yankee division, who has been transferred from command of the department of the northeast, will take place late next Tuesday afternoon. Gen. Edwards will leave at midnight Tuesday for New York.

The parade of Yankee division men and of other world war veterans will begin promptly at 5.30. Following the parade there will be a gathering on the common.

Gov. Coolidge and the governors of all the other New England states have been invited to be present.

It was announced last night that the Army and Navy union, John E. Gilheoly, commander, an organization of ex-service men, has been invited to participate in the parade. Many of the men in this organization served under Gen. Edwards.

The 1st Infantry band, James Coughlin, leader, and the Yankee Division Service band, under John J. O'Neill, have volunteered their services for the parade. The YD band is made up of former members of the 1st and 102nd field artillery regiments.

George S. Dane, director of singing in the community service, will lead the singing on the common.

No Likelihood of Reductions

been at least the usual number of buyers and that prices in most lines have been kept at the usual level. Most of the stores are reported to be well stocked with merchandise, and as a general proposition it may be said that there are no price concessions in prospect from wholesalers and jobbers that would be likely to make it possible to cut costs in the near future.

Few Price Reductions

Clothing dealers say that their business during the summer has been fully as good as a year ago. There has been comparatively little real reduction in prices except in the case of special seasonal lines in which it was desirable to reduce stocks.

The dream of lower-priced clothing for fall is generally said to be purely visionary. Goods that are to be sold during the next few months were largely ordered several months ago. The cost has already been fixed and to sell this merchandise the retailer must charge his normal profit if he is to continue to do business on the basis of success.

It is felt that there is a possibility that prices for spring clothing may be somewhat lower. Some merchants believe that the closing of the American Woolen company mills, and other similar establishments, and a somewhat general stagnation in the trade that is reported, is the prelude to an attempt to reduce wages.

It is pointed out that the present high price of clothing is due not so much to the high wages paid to woolen mill operatives as to the big incomes that are being made by the highly organized workers of the cutters-up, who make the different garments.

To Pass on Reductions

The cloth in an average suit of clothes that sells at wholesale at from $35 to $39 costs perhaps $10. A large part of the rest of the whole-sale cost goes to the men and women who make the suits. The cutters-up have generally agreed that any reduction in the cost of production that may come about as the result of lower wages shall be passed along to the wholesaler, retailer and ultimate consumer.

It is believed by some that an effort will be made during the fall by some of the manufacturing houses to get their labor costs down to lower levels. If they succeed in doing this the lower prices may make their appearance when spring goods appear on the counters.

Houses dealing in women's wear are generally reported to have passed through a summer season that was possibly a little more prosperous than that of a year ago. Prices on the whole have averaged about the same as last summer with possibly a slight tendency to drop.

General Apathy

General apathy, it is reported, represents the attitude of the local trade as regards the placing of fall orders. Wholesalers and jobbers have shown a tendency to shade prices lightly and there is a general inclination to hold off from placing business until it seems reasonably certain that the peak of recessions has been reached. The cuts in prices that have been made are believed to have been due to the fact that merchants and manufacturers who were carrying large stocks for speculative purposes have been forced to unload as a result of the contraction of bank credits.

Prices for standard grades of stock, it is reported, are likely to show an advance when the fall season opens of at least 20 per cent. On fancy, higher-priced shoes the advance will probably be larger. Both manufacturers and retailers are said to be looking for a very prosperous winter.

During the summer the local retail dealers as a rule have transacted about an average volume of business. Both profits and prices have been somewhat less than they were last year due to the fact that large quantities of shoes were delayed in production by freight tie-ups, and these were forced on the market late in the season and it was necessary to make price concessions to get them quickly into consumers' hands.

Jewelers Are Happy

A local jewelry store proprietor, who has recently attended jewelers' conventions in Providence, R. I., Portland, Me., and Laconia, N. H., states that he found representatives of the trade very optimistic regarding the outlook for the future. The big jewelry factories of Providence and the Attleboroughs are reported to be running on full time and hiring every worker who applies for a job. Business in the local stores as a whole has been even better than it was last summer, and there have been no price concessions of importance and it is said that there are none in sight. About the only signs of any let-up in the manufacturing end of the industry that are in sight is the somewhat more adequate supply of stocks that appears to be in existence. It is now possible to secure deliveries much more promptly than has been the case at times in the past. The feeling in the trade seems to be that while the peak of high prices has been reached there will be but little, if any, lowering of costs in the near future.

Summed up it may be said that the retail merchants of Lowell as a whole are looking forward to a fall and winter season of at least average prosperity.

Russians Suffer Huge Losses

the Poles along the frontier. An official statement, issued just before midnight, says that two soviet battalions hauled into Prussia by the retreating Russians fired upon the Poles and that the soviet forces are also using machine guns against the Poles on this sector. Polish troops who have reached the frontier, have been cautioned by their commanders not to step upon German territory.

While there has been a lull in the fighting on the Polish sector the Poles advanced at several places Thursday.

The region west of the Mlawa-Ciechanow railway is gradually being cleared of Russian soldiers of whom more than 3000 have been captured. All were remnants of the various detachments which participated in the drive designed to encircle Warsaw.

Warsaw Battle at Street-Litovsk

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Poles are fighting fiercely for the fortified town on the Bug river, 130 miles east of Warsaw, says the Russian soviet official statement of Thursday, received here by wireless today. In the Lublin sector, violent fighting is continuing with fluctuating results, the statement adds. The communication also says:

"On the Crimean sector, in the Kherson region, we have again driven back the enemy. In the Orientov region exceedingly fierce fighting is proceeding with considerable forces of enemy cavalry."

WARSAW, Aug. 26.—(By Associated Press) General Tuchaczewski known as the "soviet Napoleon" has been relieved of his post as commander-in-chief of the Bolshevik army of the Polish front because of his failure to take Warsaw, according to information given to the press here.

Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik minister of war and marine, has personally taken command of the army, it is reported.

Boy Bandits Confess to Plot
to Kill Men and Steal Receipts on "Ruth Day"

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Confession of a plot to shoot Charles A. Comiskey, baseball magnate and the office force and police guard at the White Sox baseball park office Sept. 16, was made to the police today by three boy bandits who were arrested yesterday in an attempted robbery of a $40,000 payroll of Wilson & Co., stockyards packers.

According to the police, the three said that they intended to steal the gate receipts of the White Sox-Yankee game Sept. 16, when they figured "Babe" Ruth would draw a record breaking attendance. They said they knew that Comiskey was not permitted by his physicians to watch the games but he was in the box office every afternoon.

They told the police that yesterday they planned to kill the bank messenger and escape with the $40,000 payroll.

James Ryan, one of the trio, was identified at the state attorney's office as a member of the gang that shot and killed Detective Sergeant Frank McCork recently while the detective was defending a vinegar company's plant against a robbery raid.

Russians Suffer Huge Losses

by Bolshevik officers who have been taken prisoner.

General Tuchatschewski has made a remarkable career in the Russian army. He is of noble birth, and at the outbreak of the world war, was captured by the Germans. He escaped, and resumed his place in the army, rising to the rank of lieutenant. When the soviet government was established, he was promoted, and rose to high command being credited with the defeat of Admiral Kolchak in Siberia under General Denikine in southern Russia. He is but 28 years old.

Gen. Weygand Talks

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Bolshevik reaction against Polish armies along the front east of Warsaw, is not expected, at least for the present, by General Weygand, who is credited with having directed the defense of the Polish capital and hurled the soviet armies back from that city, according to the Warsaw correspondent of the Petit Parisien. General Weygand is quoted as saying that the Poles should not advance too far eastward but should entrench themselves along a line that can be easily held, so that they may be able to resist any effort of soviet Russia to bring overwhelming forces upon them in future.

"It is most difficult to be a prophet at this moment," the correspondent quotes the general as saying, "but, seeing that General Wrangel, in south Russia, is going well, I hope the Bolsheviks will not be able to find any considerable forces to bring against Poland. Russia possesses vast resources, but we can, for the moment, feel reassured, for the Bolsheviks undoubtedly used everything available to take Warsaw."

"General Wrangel seems strong and well equipped and in his progress, which is not haphazard but systematic, one gets the impression that he is administering skillfully in occupied territories so that he will not, like General Denikine, leave revolt behind him. We may then, be optimistic, and I leave Warsaw with an excellent impression of the situation, and full of hope, but am convinced that hard work is needed to make the Polish army worthy of its task."

"If peace is not concluded before winter, the Poles should establish themselves in positions that would enable them to resist victoriously a possible future offensive. They should not go too far, however, but should choose a strong line and build up an organization behind it so as to be prepared for any eventuality."

Cannot Halt Now

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—At Marshal Foch's headquarters yesterday, staff officers were discussing the Polish situation and agreed that the "campaign of Poland" is virtually ended as far as heavy fighting and maneuvering is concerned. The officers' opinion was that, except for an expected stand by the Bolsheviks before Grodno, no further pitched battles are likely to occur.

Bending over large maps of Poland, the officers' main topic of discussion: "Where will the Polish armies halt and entrench?"

"Ethnographical frontiers are not necessarily the best strategic frontiers," one officer said. The opinion was freely expressed that it would be folly for the Polish commanders to place themselves in a state of strategic inferiority by halting within a kilometre of the frontier fixed by the Versailles treaty, especially in the centre.

Under the terms of the Versailles treaty, the eastern Polish frontier commences with the East Prussian line, passes east of Suwalki to the west of Grodno, through Gdansk, Brest-Litovsk and Wlodawa to a point west of Vladimir Volynsk, through Brody and ends at Kamensk Podolsk.

It was explained to the Associated Press that the Polish left wing, resting on the Nieman river, and the right, holding behind the river Zbruch, were safe against attack. The centre, however, was the weak spot in the line, the officers declared, having no natural defence and being always exposed to a possible offensive return by the Bolsheviks, which might cut the line in half leaving both wings up in the air. From a purely military and strategic point of view, it would be imperative, they said, that the Polish centre be advanced 40 or 50 kilometres beyond the line fixed by the Versailles treaty.

proved his ability to lead forces to the front and to create and utilize the possibilities of the rear."

Asked whether they had any confirmation of a report which had been current in Paris that Gen. Weygand would be made "Marshal of Poland," the officers said they did not know, but one of them replied: "Don't you think he

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

It now looks as if the next amendment to the constitution may be one which would take away from the senate the veto power which it now holds on all treaties with foreign nations and transfer that function to the national house which to a much greater degree represents the sentiments of the people on all public questions.

This change has been advocated before on various occasions, the claim having been made that the senate was originally invested with this power by the framers of the constitution for the reason that they did not then wish to rely upon the representatives, not knowing exactly what action they might take relative to international agreements. Accordingly the power was placed in the more conservative body, which corresponds to the house of lords in the British parliament.

This proposed change has been forcibly brought to public attention by no less an authority than ex-Gov. Samuel W. McCall in a strong article in the Atlantic Monthly for September, in which he says:

"If then we are to have open, free and responsible government the senate must be reformed, and no time is more auspicious than the present to begin with that branch of its jurisdiction as to which the people are having such a striking object-lesson. Let us take a first step in the direction of popular and efficient government and amend the constitution so that treaties shall be ratified by the house of representatives."

Undoubtedly Mr. McCall's article has been suggested by the action of the United States senate in rejecting the peace treaty. Republican leaders are criticizing the democratic administration as "a one-man government," which it necessarily must be to a great extent during a war such as we have passed through, and, owing to the action of the senate, we are still officially at war with Germany. That is a sufficient excuse for the authority temporarily exercised by President Wilson under the stress of war and war conditions.

The tables, however, have been effectively turned by ex-Gov. McCall who now ably points out the necessity of transferring the power of ratifying treaties vested in the senate to the representatives of the people. In France the chamber of deputies co-operates with the president in making international compacts; in England it is the house of commons and not the house of lords that makes the treaties; so the ex-governor reasons that we should not rely upon the upper branch of congress but rather upon the representatives who are elected biennially. The senate, he holds, can never be a thoroughly responsible body for the reason that only one-third of its members can be brought before the people for election at any one time. For this reason it is argued that it should not be given a veto power over any treaty or international agreement favored by the president and perhaps also by the people.

Mr. McCall can cite eminent authorities in favor of the reform which he now proposes, among the number being Secretary of State John Hay, who served under McKinley and who was one of the ablest secretaries the nation has had since the Civil war.

Senator Harding is making an issue of what he terms the "one-man government" and he has described the criticism of the senate as "a reflex of mob mentality." It is probable that in the course of the present campaign, the attitude of the senate in defeating popular measures, will receive considerable attention from the democratic leaders. The British house of lords became obnoxious on account of rejecting popular measures and as a result its veto power was limited and made ultimately subordinate to the will of the commons. There is no doubt that the change proposed by ex-Gov. McCall would result in a more satisfactory method of framing and ratifying treaties, a function of government which must ever be regarded as one of supreme importance.

THE SUFFRAGE VICTORY

Woman suffrage is proclaimed and the fight that has been waged for nearly a century is at last triumphant. The part of our constitution which provides for elections by the people has heretofore been interpreted as having reference only to men but under the 19th amendment it is made to apply equally to women.

In other words, the women under this amendment are invested with the franchise and will hereafter have an equal voice with men in the decision of all political questions. It is certainly a great victory for the women, particularly for those who have devoted years of active work to the cause of women suffrage.

The suffragettes are no longer a joke or a body of agitators to be laughed at as the irrepressible advocates of an impossible reform, which with amazing rapidity has become law.

Well may the leaders rejoice in this splendid victory. Associated with this great triumph will live the names of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony, Lucy Stone, Julia Ward Howe, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Alice Paul and many others.

It is not at all probable that any further attempt will be made to block the ratification on technical grounds and hence the women of every state in the union will have full power to vote in the next national election.

The states in which full suffrage was enjoyed by women previous to this amendment were: Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington, Alaska, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, California, Montana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Michigan, South Dakota. Women had presidential suffrage previous to the amendment in the following fourteen states: Arkansas, Texas, Indiana, Maine, Rhode Island, Vermont, Iowa, Illinois, No. Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and Tennessee. Thus it appears that after all, the amendment will not effect such a change in conditions as has been generally supposed.

There will be much speculation as to the effect of suffrage on political conditions and second, on the women themselves. It is yet too soon to form an accurate idea upon either question; but it is generally believed that women will be more easily stirred and stampeded than the men. The presidential election offers them a good opportunity of showing their political judgment on a great issue.

EGYPT SET FREE

If it be true that England has conceded the independence of Egypt, the fact may indicate a change of policy that will strengthen the empire. Here at our shores we have a friend in Cuba whose freedom we secured and then left her to make the most of it with the proviso that if she failed to use it properly we should go in and take charge. We have had no occasion to intervene, but if we need the aid of Cuba it is ready at any time. When we entered the world war, April 6, 1917, it took Cuba just one day to decide upon what she would do and her entrance to the war was made on April 7, 1917. In a similar way England can make Egypt her sincere friend by granting her independence and in spite of the disturbed condition of Ireland, she can make that country a real friend of the empire by granting her independence on conditions similar to those now existing between the United States and Cuba.

England encroached upon Egypt in order to defend the Suez canal and finally assumed control of the country in 1882. British authority has since been vigorously opposed and it became apparent that Egypt could not be held without an army of occupation. England has trouble enough with her colonies without assuming others that may prove serious. If she would now do with Ireland what she has done for Egypt, she would take a great step towards peace at home and abroad. Ireland can make more trouble than half a dozen Egypts.

The average cost of bituminous coal at the mines in West Virginia is $2.53 a ton. Lowell industries are paying around $20 a ton for the same kind of fuel. A federal trade commission report says in regard to coal prices, "There is a large margin for profiteering and this is the situation against which the industrial world and consumers must contend."

Our sympathies are expressed for Henry Sullivan in his second failure to swim the English channel and become famous. We would advise Henry not to try it again. It is largely a matter of luck, of striking the right condition of the tide and the weather but the ordeal is too strenuous to justify repeated trials to hit the favoring tide.

A Lowell business concern is to adopt the policy of giving its customers, who pay cash and are willing to tote home their own packages, a five per cent discount which may afford an opportunity for effective action in cutting the cost of living. Much will depend upon the standard of prices from which the reduction is made.

"No newspaper, however modest its conductors may be in private," says our contemporary, "hesitates to announce that it is the best and ablest in its community." Yes, some so-called newspapers are brazen liars, but the people soon find them out and place them where they belong.

It is "perfectly" apparent that Senator Harding should consult his dictionary and then reform his usage of the word "perfectly." Perhaps, though, there is a man who writes some of his speeches that needs to do the dictionary-consulting.

State Commissioner of Public Works Synan thinks that long-term planning is the secret of good roads. Long-term lack of planning is plainly enough one of the principal causes of bad ones and there is no particular secret about it.

The returning vacationists who are not being compelled to pay extra charges on their excursion tickets, can thank the newspapers for having helped to put the kibosh on the attempt of the railroads to repudiate their contracts.

When you see an article priced 74 cents in a store one day, and the next day see the same thing displayed in the show window marked 39 cents, do you conclude that the merchant is a profiteer or a philanthropist?

"Credit expansion is being checked" is the answer the Federal Reserve board has furnished you for use the next time a friend attempts to touch you for $5.

It may be well to remember that it was a Massachusetts woman—Susan B. Anthony—who laid deep and secure the foundations upon which the proud suffrage structure of today is builded.

It is not impossible that the inspiration for Senator Harding's appeal for harmony in republican ranks may have come from a knowledge of the troubled waters of G. O. P. strife in Massachusetts.

A group of 25 barefooted young women have danced as part of a Pilgrim celebration on Cape Cod. We do not need even to guess as to what the Pilgrims would have thought of this.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The usual mid-afternoon dullness of Thursday had settled in Merrimack Square. There weren't 50 people in sight no matter where one looked. Now and then an automobile would turn from Central street into Merrimack and at intervals an electric car would make its noisy way into the square. Then the few people who were standing around noticed a trio of barefooted urchins making their way up Central street, evidently intent on amusing themselves in any way feasible. Suddenly one of them, "spotted" the traffic post at the junction of Central and Merrimack streets and the officer who is usually on duty there was for the time being absent. What a golden opportunity! One of the youngsters darted to the traffic post, saw a machine coming up Central street and signalled to it with all the proficiency of a veteran officer. Smilingly the driver turned up Merrimack street and soon another car came along. "Hey, your lights are out," shouted the youthful traffic director, despite the fact it was only 3 o'clock in the afternoon. And so on, for 10 or 15 minutes, the youngsters had the time of their lives directing traffic while bystanders looked on in amusement.

With the opening of the local schools and colleges fast approaching, the manufacturers are confronted with the labor turnover caused by young people returning to their studies. Of course, this city is no worse off than any other in that matter, and it is almost a certainty that the places vacated by the young people returning to school will be filled up rapidly. On the other hand, if help does prove short and all such vacancies cannot be filled, manufacturers and others are not likely to feel any great inconvenience because of the dullness and the fact that some surplus help was carried through vacation. The construction trades can least afford to lose any of their present force.

As we all know, there are some people who don't like to be fooled themselves, but are always ready to take a whack at another fellow. I have in mind the case of a jeweler who sold a $50 ring to a drunk in his store. Now that man may have wandered in to the jeweler's to buy something, with but a hazy idea of what he was doing. Of course, one way to look at the affair is, that the man might just as well have spent his money for the ring as to have it taken from him, but that doesn't justify a dealer in selling an article to an intoxicated person, for such an amount. So far as the purchaser was concerned, he could not tell whether the ring was worth five dollars or five cents. If he had the ring when he sobered, he probably didn't remember where he bought it or what he paid for it.

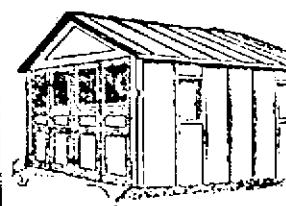

I ran into an unusual happening last night—that is, it was an unusual happening for the present time, although it would have been common enough not so very long ago. I was standing at the corner of Central and Jackson sts. when I was approached by an individual of uncertain gait and somewhat seedy appearance who addressed me: "Say, mister, gimme half a dollar to git somethin' ter eat, will yer; I'm hungry." There were the unmistakable signs of the street beggar of former days, only the most noticeable of these this time was an odor of "jakey" instead of straight booze. The first thought that occurred to me was, how long has it been since I have been "touched" in the street in this way. I cudgeled my brain to recall the last instance, but it happened so long ago that my recollection of it was elusive in the old days. In common with most other people who walked much about the street, I was approached at frequent intervals by street seekers after alms. But, the old-time beggar, apparently almost unnoticed, has practically disappeared. To prohibition or prosperity, or perhaps both. I suppose should be given the credit for the new order of things. Then, too, I was struck with the modern tenor of the request. In the old days it used to be, "Gimme ten cents to buy a plate of beans." But the spirit of the age has apparently hit the street beggar, and in an era when everything but the value of money is inflated why should not the alms-seeker be entitled to think that he should get his share. Also, it should be remembered, I suppose, that the price of booze, or its substitutes, that was usually camouflaged under the designation, "a plate of beans," also costs much more than it once did. At the present time I understand those who want real whiskey must pay at least 50 cents a drink.

75,000 SOVIET REFUGEES IN EAST PRUSSIA

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—It is expected that the number of fugitive Russian soviet troops who are accompanied by many women and children in their flight from Poland into East Prussia, will by tonight reach 75,000. The ministry of defense will be obliged to transport the Russians to Pillau, 25 miles west of Königsberg, where they will embark for Selmünde, near Stettin, or some other German Baltic port, en route to camps in the interior.

Because of her proclaimed neutrality, Germany is obliged to confine the fugitive Russians until the Russian-Polish hostilities are ended.

There are still 150,000 former Russian war prisoners in various German camps, and the food and quarantine questions present difficult problems. In addition, the confiscation of Russian rubles under German customs regulations threatens to leave the Bolshevik penniless. Members of the inter-allied control commission are co-operating with German border officials, especially in disposing of the arms and munitions brought in by the Russians. Among the fugitives are units from several cavalry divisions.

GETS NAVAL TRANSFER

David Garrick, 585 Bridge street of the naval reserve force, made application for transfer to active duty at the local navy recruiting station this morning and was forwarded to Boston. Garrick is a coppersmith and will be given four months' pay and 30 days' leave before he resumes active duty with a squadron soon to sail for far eastern waters.

REGISTRATION IN NORTH BILLERICA

The last call comes tonight for the registration of voters who desire to participate in the state primaries to be held Sept. 7. The board of registrars is to be in session at the town hall during the evening. It is expected that a considerable number of women will take advantage of the opportunity to get their names on the voting lists. A total of 65 women have registered this year up to the present time. This number brings the total feminine registration close to the 200 mark.

Work on the new bridge over the Concord river near the site of the old bridge is going forward slowly under the direction of Contractor Fannin. The west side foundation is complete. NARROW ESCAPE FOR AUTO

Four men riding in a Maxwell touring car owned by Edouard Desbriens of North Chelmsford had a narrow escape from serious injury late yesterday afternoon when their machine nearly turned turtle in Riverside street. The car was being driven down Riverside street and when the corner of White street was reached, one of the rear tires blew out. The machine swerved to one side and was about to crash into the fence along the river bank, when the chauffeur managed to swing to the right. The automobile turned completely around, but no one was injured.

BANKER DAVISON CALLS ON SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Several important conferences, an afternoon automobile trip to speak at Gallon, Ohio, and an evening reception here to Marion women in celebration of the grant of suffrage, were on Senator Harding's crowded engagement list for today.

Among the callers were Henry P. Davison, a partner in the Morgan banking house, and Fred D. Underwood, president of the Erie railway. The conferences between them and the senator were understood to concern financial problems.

At Gallon the senator was to speak to a picnic of Erie railway employees and it was expected that he would make railway labor the subject of his short address.

SERIOUS MUTINIES ON PERUVIAN FRONTIER

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 26.—Reports received through official channels from the Peruvian frontier state that serious mutinies resulting in the killing of a number of persons, have occurred within the last few days among 15,000 Chilean troops reported to be concentrated in Tacna and Arica.

The mobilization reported is alleged to be political, for the purpose of removing from Santiago and Valparaiso troops which favor the presidential candidacy of Arturo Alessandri, nominee of the liberal alliance.

The reports state that the troops are clamoring to be returned to their homes. Machine guns were used during the disturbances and many were killed and wounded, the advices state.

TO SAVE SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY FROM RUIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Canadian shipbuilders are urging a direct subsidy for every ton of shipping built in the Dominion as a means of saving the industry from ruin, according to a report from Consul Felix Johnson at Kingston, received today at the department of commerce.

Many of the Canadian shipyards have been operated at a loss, the consul reported, and since the announcement by the Canadian government that there will be no extension of the shipbuilding program, it has been held that if shipbuilding is to continue a force in the industrial life of Canada, it must be developed along lines that will insure stability and permanence.

Canadian shipbuilding practically got its start from the encouragement given by the government during the war, the consul said. There are three yards in Nova Scotia; four in Quebec; six in Ontario, and four in British Columbia, he stated, with $50,000,000 invested in the industry.

Picnics Arranged by International Institute Have Brought Joy to Hundreds of Children

"KIDS" LINED UP FOR WEDNESDAY'S PICNIC

"Aw, gee, no more picnics? That's tough luck," say the kids. With the announcement that the picnic held last Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the International Institute in Palmer street, Miss Edna Merrill, director, was the last for this summer, disappointment has spread among many of the little boys and girls of different sections of the city. More than 300 "kiddos" and six mothers and their babies have enjoyed outings at Nabnasset pond under the care of Miss Merrill and so pleased have they been that even the smallest, toddling fellow is loudly proclaiming that he's "goin' ter get his pals ter ax Miss Merrill ter run more picnics."

The Institute held the first outing this summer on June 30, others on the following Saturdays, except when weather prevented, and the final one on Wednesday last. In each case the children were taken in a truck to Nabnasset pond for the afternoon, the start being made about 1 o'clock and the return to the city about 6 o'clock. The trucks and ice cream for the outings were donated by various firms and business men in the city through whose kindness the success of the undertaking was made possible.

In endeavoring to get the children who would enjoy the outing most, Miss Merrill took different sections of the city each week. Children from the following streets were taken on the picnics: Market, Adams, Suffolk, Tilden, Young, McCoy's first service was at Camp Devens where his mechanical ability was soon recognized and he was sent to the military trade school at Washington. After graduating from that institution he was assigned to Atlanta, Ga. He was attached to Co. I, S.A.R.D. in the capacity of automobile repairman and sailed with that unit for France in September, 1918. His body will be taken to the home of his brother, 256 Princeton street, tomorrow morning by Undertaker William H. Saunders.

KIRKWOOD—Alexander Kirkwood died this morning at his late home, 2 Billecia street, after a short illness. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mary A. Graham Kirkwood, six children, Walter, May, Dorothy, Hazel and Kenneth Kirkwood, his father, Richard, a brother, Thomas, and one sister, Effie Kirkwood of Westbrook, Me.

Rudden of St. John's hospital are enjoying their vacation at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

Sixty applicants for chauffeurs' licenses were examined at city hall this morning by Inspectors Leary, Bailey and Hardy of the state highway department.

Traffic Officer and Mrs. Frank Donovan and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Trebble will leave tomorrow morning on a two weeks' automobile trip through the province of New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Girard of West Bowers street will leave Sunday morning on a two weeks' automobile trip through the state of New York and Canada.
